The prefects this year had an eventful and enjoyable year. Unafraid to try new things or old things a new way, they led the school strongly from the best Homecoming in years through a busy winter and spring to a rock concert at Mayfest. They flogged everything from tickets to red foam hands, and led the school in a huge range of activities. Under the leadership of Jason LaMarche and the other prefects, the College completed a superb year all round.

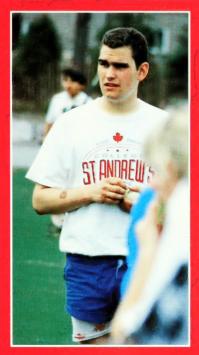

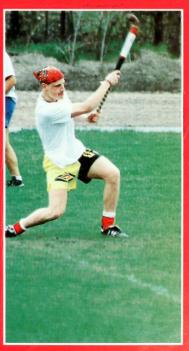

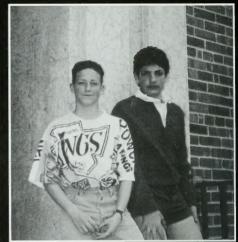

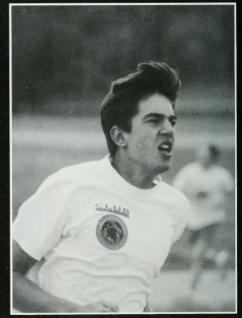

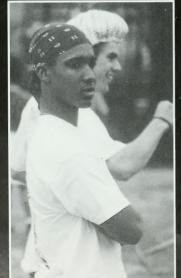

Prefects For 1992-93

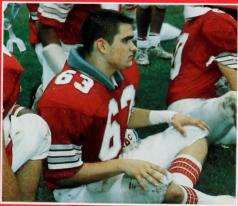

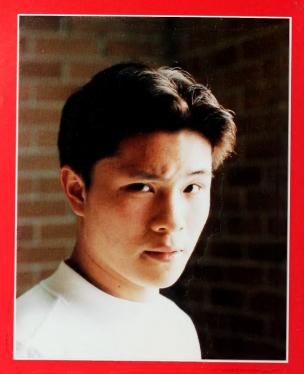

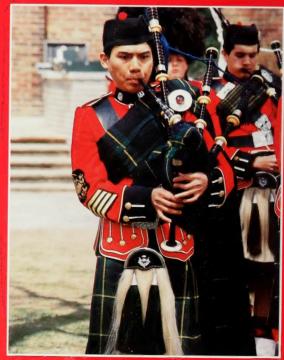

Today, toughened by their school experience, they have changed. The baby faces are gone. There is a resolute character about them, a focused determination. They exude a developing quality of excellence in leadership decisiveness.

Nicknames: Biggs, Twiggs, Q.B, Billy Joe, Harry Boy (c/o Hock and Doug).

Sayings: Hey Biggs, '&#@ Lay,where am I going to get some ID from?: Bart when are you going to pay me back?; That deserves a slap; Nyakis!, Lux there's extra drill in my room after school; O eeeee!; It's not the money, my idea of a March break isn't in a place where it's raining and cold; See Wai; Biggs, I'm just going over to upper school.

Activities: Prefect; Head of MacHouse; I Football (Capt.-2a); U16 Football (2a) One year that I would rather forget; U16 Hockey (2a) Rugby U15 U17; Track (Capt.3a, MIP, MVP, Record Holder, 3a ISAA Champs); The Scottish Play& Mid sum' nights dream; Bone

Class '89-91; Quebec '92; Dom Perignon bets with Lux.

What's left to say that hasn't already been said. The show's over and what a production it's been. From my first formal in room 100 to my last pass of the season, it all comes down to this. The past five years of school have been the best five years to date. I have made some friends that I will never forget and also met some people that I would love to forget. That is what this place is all about, the good and the bad. You learn to appreciate the good and handle the bad. The more you put in and get involved, the more you get out. I took this to heart; for the times I was velled at for not putting school work first, I've one thing to say "People don't care what you wanted to accomplish but only what you did," I didn't do everything but came close and got a lot out of it. What can I say, Mr.G, the big vault is over and thanks - you really helped. To the six of you, let's keep in touch, Coach thanks for your help, Mr. Yuill you're great, and mom I do understand. THANKS

Sayings: I'm not a newf; Back Home ...; Whaaaaat?;

Activities: First Hockey (2a, Assistant Captain and MVP Sr. yr); First Volleyball (2a, Captain Sr. yr., MIP and MVP); Golf (2a) Badminton; House Captain; Assistant Head of House; Founding Member of Road Hockey; Shiny with the boys; Founder of the Famous Canoe; Fisherman's club.

St. Andrew's with its high academics standards has taught me that academics are the most important thing in one's life. When I was making the decision I really didn't take academics into consideration. Now that I've been here for two years I can appreciate the opportunity that my parents made possible for me by sending me here. I would like to thank Mr. Dunford for believing in me when no one else would. I would also like to thank him for making me a better hockey player and a better person. Thanks a lot. A big thanks also goes to my housemaster Mr. K for really helping me to adapt to the new environment. The biggest thanks goes to Fernande and Emil (my parents), without you none of this would have happened. Thank you!

Good luck to all my friends (You know who you are) in the future and good luck to next years first Hockey Team. All the way boys! SEE YA!

Nicknames: Boyeee, Poulet, Satch, Bugle, Bugle boy, Bugle Boyer, Chef, Boyer, Dee

Sayings: Hey, What's happenin; Yeah..O.K.; Honest, I have a spare; Yes its nice to be here Mr. Robinson; ...ok, but let's just stop for a coffee first.

Activities: Junior Nordic Skiing; Indoor Tennis; II Tennis; MacPherson MVP Trumpeter; ISMF lead Trumpet for three years; Carol Service every year (except the year I had a fever); Entertainment for a whole lot of ladies guild meetings; History Hall of Fame.

Sitting here in the library it is hard to comprehend or even fathom all of the people to whom those neatly painted gold lettered names belong to, that is their mark on St. Andrew's, and although I will not have a place on any of the 7 maroon plaques in this monumental place, I hope to leave a mark on each of those whom I have lived the past five years of my life with, day to day. I am glad that from early on I realized this goal and am not trying to catch up on this area, unlike other areas of my life. One of the worst plights of life is to be forgotten and to drift by. My academic achievements may not have been outstanding, great or even memorable, but I hope that my personality was. Each person here I had hoped to etch their portrait in my mind and to get to know them at least a little. Although it won't seem as important or heart-rending, I will be faced with this problem again at University, where ever that might be (sarcasm). I don't think that this conclusion of my high school portion will finaly hit home until I engage in one of life's many etiquette rituals. While being in highshcool my school ring faced me when looking at my hand, to remind me of where I am and what is at hand, and now I will turn my school ring around on my finger to show the world what I represent, what I am, and what I'm proud to be... An Andrean.

Nicknames: Brooker, Brooksay, Brooky, TB, Mr. IGA.

Sayings: Logs, it's Monday - Off to Waldo's; Chris, your Asuna bites; Lambo, Accounting crunch time; He's not that smart, he just has no social life; Hey guy, wanna go?; At IGA, we're really Hometown Proud!; Has anybody seen Mike Boyer today?

Activities: Soccer (6a), U16 ISAA Champs; Hockey (6a); Tennis (3a); Cricket (3a); Founding member of the Beretta GTZ worship hour; Various other activities which are not worth mentioning.

Six years in one place is a long time, but my stay at St. Andrew's has finally come to an end. One third of my life has been spent in this community, and I would be lying if I said that it hasn't been a long, hard ride; but in the end it's been worth it. St. Andrew's is more than just sports and academics. St. Andrew's is about life, friendships and success. Thanks to all my friends for making my stay at SAC memorable. You know who you are. Most of all, thanks Mom and Dad for always making sure I had the best of everything, including an education at SAC - I know I will never be able to repay you for your scarrifices. There is more to life than just marks - I love you both.

Activities: Soccer, Rugby, I Football, I Hockey (could have done more if I didn't screw up my ankle - you know the story), a founding member of the Crevass Club, Quebec, Bri's House 89, 90, 91, 92, 93 ..., Nude Twister, Formal '91, '92 (kind of), 93, Funnel Enthusiasts Club - A little bit of everything really.

Only now as I sit back trying to put five years into a meagre 6 by 2 box am I realizing just how much I'm going to miss this place and what a profound influence it has had on me. At the beginning of this year I was a little worried and full of questions. How could I possibly survive without Murray? Where would I be next year? Who's driving this weekend? Well, eight months later, Murray is still Murray, I know I'll be going to university somewhere, and I'm still looking for some shmuck t drive me home. SAC has left me confident that I will one day find the answers to all life's mysteries (like where do babies come from). Special thanks go to Mr. Smith and especially Mr. Dunford who has been a great tutor, coach and most importantly a good friend. And finally I bid farewell to all my friends - especially my three swall'in cronies: Nick, Brian and Murray (Nick your roome is a shrine where all who enter must pay homage to the "Gods of Barley and Hops"). I love you Mom and Dad and will literally be indebted to you for the rest of my life.

My two years at St. Andrew's have had a profound effect on my life. The wealth of knowledge I acquired here will be greatly beneficial to me in my progress through life. It includes not only academic knowledge, but everything I have learned or experienced. I am extremely privileged to have been part of Andrean history and would like to thank my parents for making that possible. Without their support I would never have been given such a golden ticket to the world. Thanks mom and dad!!! I would also like to thank my: grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins. Thanks also to David, Dominick, David, Shezu, Rutu, Joel, Derrek and his family and others who have been good to me during my years of growth. To all of the people at St. Andrew's...Thanks.

St. Andrew's College has been a curious blend of tradition and innovation. It is an experience encompassing a whole crosssection of life. From the classrooms to the playing fields, and from Hong Kong to Jamaica, the diversity of people and ideas here has prepared me not only for university but also for life.

Thank you Momand Dad for making the right choice. Thanks to all my teachers (special thanks goes out to Mr. Hiltz, Mr. Swan and Mr. Timms) whose dedication has taught me to value the endeavour for enlightenment. Thanks to all my friends for all the help and all the laughs.

Activities: Fencing; Soccer; Rugby; Mid-nights study club.

It was all too quick and sudden when I realized that my stay at A.Andrew's has finally come to an end. Looking back, I can see three years of joy, pride and frustrations. I have met many challenges, learned many lessons and most importantly, I have learned to become self-confident and self-dependent. With these unique qualities that SAC has given me, I am now ready to venture into the vast and infinitude universe with great courage and confidence.

All of this has been made possible by the two most important people in my life, my parents. Thanks for the opportunities offered and the great sacrifices made. I simply cannot express my gratitude in words.

To my teachers, thanks for giving a chance to do a bit of everything.

I came to this school a shy timid boy; I leave ready to take on the challenges of the world. This school has been great for me and I will miss some of the things that I participated in. The greatest memory of my life at SAC will be the friends I made here.

Thank you Sean for helping me get by when I never thought it was possible. You contributed a great deal to my life and it is appreciated very much. I would also like to thank Mr. Perrier for being a great housemaster and friend, as well as Mr. Robo who always knew how to make me smile. Last but definitely not least my parents. They have sacrificed so many things to send me here and I thank them for giving me the opportunity of coming to SAC because it's something that will be cherished forever.

To all the graduating class - good luck!

I am always asking the same question: "Was St. Andrew's College really worth it?" Each time, I struggle with the answer. During my career here, I have made many solid friendships, most of which will continue for the rest of my life. Seven years seems like a long time. It seems even longer when you consider going through seven terms of cadets and seven carol servicesbut the harder it gets, the stronger your bonds become. More than anything, however, SAC has been a school for change. I came here as a nervous little boy, feeling homesick and abandoned. Now I emerge as a strong, optimistic, young man, ready to make a new start. So, when people now ask me the question: "Was St. Andrew's College really worth it?" The answer is "yes". Life at SAC cannot be described - only experienced.

The whole experience couldn't have been possible without the love and support from my Mom and Dad. I will never be able to thank you enough. Thanks also to my brother Greg, and to all my teachers for their patience with me (JFH, DG, AH, PR).

My five years of SAC came and went quickly. It seemed like vesterday when I was in Mac House. Today I am in Sifton and graduating. My memories of St. Andrew's will always be fond. Through these years I have laughed with, learned from and been supported by unforgettable friends: Rob, Ryan, Belli, Rich, Henry, Sean and Matt, you guys are the greatest and make the memories of my years here the best. I thank all the teachers for some interesting classes and experiences; Mr. Shields and Mr. Smith, thank you for all your time, concern and patience. You have helped me so much. The St. Andrew's experience would not have been mine if it were not for my loving family - Mom and Dad, you have made me into the person I am today. Thank you for all your love, advice and support. I love you with all my heart. Chris, you are my best friend in the world. Thanks for all your support and love. St. Andrew's, you have been my heart and soul for five years. It's hard to say goodbye to all the days I have spent here and all the friends I have gained - nothing is forgotten.

St. Andrew's has consumed thirteen of my first eighteen years. It is here where I had my first cry and first laugh and it is here where I'll have my last cry and last laugh as a boy. Memories overwhelm me: from interrupting the cadet inspection with Very Furry on my shoulders to proudly wearing my kilt and standing in those same ranks, or thrill of throwing a football for the first time to fighting for a first team championship, and from being Christened on the chapel alter to standing there during Prefect duty every morning. St. Andrew's - rich character and characters - gave me the most luscious memories of my life. The thought of heading on next year has caused a tremendous anxiety that I am leaving my home, but the small world of SAC will always be inside me. For this I thank my parents, Kirsten, Tory, and every Andrean from Mr. Meagher to Mr. Foy for ensuring that I keep my restless spirit on the track of reality. Nostalgia has overwhelmed me to the extent that I can no longer turn this heaven into words.

First. I have to thank my mom, dad, sister, grandparents, the Yeung's family and the Chu's family for their supports (of course, both financially and spiritually) throughout my four years stay here. If it hadn't been for them, I would never have made it. In addition, I have learnt a lot from my various roommates - Yanis, Delfin, Farrugia and Wong (wherever Jarvis is, I also thank him). Theyhave changed me into an active participant in sports and activities (sorry guys, I didn't make U15 basketball.) I also thank Mr. Hiltz, Mrs Hiltz for their supports throughout my stay and I certainly have learned the art of "hanging in and holding the phone." I would never be able to finish my applications if Mr. Smith, Mr. Ray, Mr. Scoular and Mr. Foy weren't around to give help. Finally, I would like to thank some of my best friends such as Kevin, Ken, Kaye and especially Patricia for their supports throughout my high schoolcareer.

I have no special tales to tell, only thanks and advice. Grades seven, eleven and thirteen, represent the most challenging years of my life, and I would like to express my thanks to the people that helped me endure them. First, to my family, thank you for the inspiration. Next, I would like to thank three true friends that left before me - Jhad, Bruce, and Marcus. Then, there are the Staff that gave me the best guidance a boy could ever need. Thank You Coach, Dr. Meaghar, El Ro, Mr. Foy and Goffs. Finally, thank you to the guys that are leaving with me and the guys I leave behind - you are my brothers. I love you. I have no regrets. I have payed my dues and taken advantage of all the opportunities available to me. I have but one piece of advice for everyone, Andrean or not - Don't Out!

"When things go wrong as they sometimes will, when the roads you're trudging seems all up hill, when the funds are low and the debts are high, and you want to smile but you have to sigh, when care is pressing you down a bit, rest if you must, but don't you quit." -Anonymous-

My three years at St. Andrew's was short but remarkable. SAC has prepared me academically far better than any other school could have. This institution has also offered me the opportunity to find my athletic potential. However, most important of all, I got to meet various interesting and distinctive people, from whom I have learnt ways of dealing and solving problems in order to survive.

I'd like to thank all the influential people of my school life. Thanks to Dad and Mom for giving me the opportunity to go to this fine establishment. Thanks to Mr Perrier for being such a wonderful Housemaster and teacher, Mr Hiltz for being the most awesome Physics teacher, Mr Dunford for being the greatest Maths teacher, Mr. Bedard, Mr. Rush, Mr. Jones, Mr. Robo and Mr. Hemmings for their zealous support in Tennis, Squash and Fencing, Special thanks to the guys who had been supporting me for the past three years, Sin, Mong, Ting, KMF, KW, CL, JL, DL, Au, JC, AAAA, Fang, EL, RN, JP, EC. Ideeply hope that our friendship can last forever.

Well it's about time! I've been waiting five long years to write this comment, and now I don't know what to say. I'd like to thank Bart and Jason L. for all the incredible times together, and I'm sure there will be many more. I plan on keeping these friendships, and many more that I've developed at SAC, for life. The people I've met and the places I've been to, while attending SAC, have helped me develop from a boy to a man. I'll never forget this place, good times and bad times. However, if it wasn't for my parents, I would never have been here at all. Special thanks to my Dad, who has been my inspiration since day one, and always will be. Thanks for the memories, and good luck in the future. Till

It's over, again? First, kindergarten, then elementary school, now this. I sure hope the rest of my life won't flash by like this. Well, the two years of life in SAC have been most memorable. Especially all the late nights down at the common room, studying algebra, biology, or writing an essay for Waldo. It was the best of times, it was the worst of times. I will never forget this place.

I would like to thank my parents for their support both spiritually and financially. I would also like to thank my teachers who patiently guided me through all the tough times (The night before the exam) and my house master Mr. Perrier for making Memorial house a place we can call home.

Finally, goodbye to all my friends, Meat-X, Yuen Bill, Fung, Ball, Toes, Arrmooold, Ton, and Crystal, who shared with me all the good and bad times in SAC. Oops I forgot to mention Johnny, I hope he is really ticked off now... hahaha.

Later guys!!!! I am out'a here!

My three years at SAC are finally coming to an end. It is time for me to move on to another stage of my life. Looking forward is a long road full of obstacles, but I have no fear, because SAC has transformed me into an all rounded individual during this three years. Special thanks to mom and dad for all the encouragement in what I did this few years, and the sacrifices that you made to send me here. Special thanks to Mr. Hiltz for giving me valuable advices about engineering in university. Farewell for now, Andreans!

"Good times pass so quickly!" My days in St. Andrew's College have been short but memorable. I could still remember my first day in SAC - I was a total stranger to those people who are now my best friends. I couldn't imagine my way through SAC without my friends, they have provided me encouragement in many aspects. Special thanks to Mr. Perrier, Mr. Smith, Mr. Dunford, Mr. Hiltz, Mr. Kimmerer, Mr. Jones and all the others that taught me and supported me. Thanks to my parents who had provide me the opportunity to study in such a nice environment. Well, it is unbelievable that I've studied here for four years already. I remember the first year that I came to this strange place, I was totally lost and I knew nothing at all. I've learned to be more independent, more sociable and more involved in group activities. My proudest achievement is my drawings which have appeared in "Focus" '90-93 & in the year book '91-92. I've also made a lot of good friends. I want to thank them for being good companions and sharing the happy times such ashanging around at HWY 7 at late night, etc. Many "thanks" to WY, JC, KN, BB, RY, TF, DL, TC, RT, as well as to housemaster, Mr. Foy, for taking good care of me; and Mr. Paolini, Mr. Smith, Mr. Inglis, & Mr. Stuart for their encouragement. Lastly, special "thanks" to my parents for giving me a chance to study at this "great" school, and for providing the transporation.

Two years at SAC have give me a lot of new experiences away from home. Studying at SAC was fruitful for me in this short period of time. I have realized the importance of time management and the importance of leadership, and especially communication skills in a multi-cultural environment. I remember the first time I saw SAC I was so impressed by the beautiful campus. And two years later, I have found out SAC is really a place for studying and a good place for young people to develop their talents.

I would like to thank the teachers and my friends here who have encouraged me from the beginning, especially thank my parents. They have given me a wonderful opportunity to study and I would like to at SAC. Thank you Mom and Dad.

In closing, I thank St. Andrew's College for it has enriched my life both physically and spiritually.

My time in St. Andrew's was quite short, but it was a memorable one. I made a lot of new friends in this school. We studied, partied and did a lot of things together. We worked together like a group of soldier in the frontline against the harsh times. They helped me realize that life is not as simple as it seems, and I learned to deal with many problems. I have also made some good friends in other schools, such as: A.Wong, J.Yuen, P.Yuen, and K.Chan.

I would like to thank my parents for making me stay in SAC and their moral support, specifically, my dad for spending the time and money so that I could get the best education.

I believe that teachers at SAC have made me work harder than ever before; I express my sincere gratitude.

My five years at SAC have been an experience I will never forget. I not only enriched my mind, soul, and body; but I made close ties that can never be erased. Mr. Bedard said, "If you have made one true friend, you are truly lucky." I feel as though I'm more than lucky. I was always amused by our diverse staff. I thank all those on staff (especially Mr. Whitehead, Mr. Bedard, Mr. Stuart, Mr. Arril, Mr. Swan and Mr. Smith) for making my vears here easier and teaching me things that I couldn't have learned in a classroom. I can honestly look back at the things I hated such as cadets, Saturday mornings, and dress code, and appreciate why they have been done. My Himalayan Expedition to Nepal, Rugby tours, water-polo matches with the boys, and other scenarios involving tight camaraderie are episodes that can only be experienced in the Andrean community. All my activities at SAC were not cheap, and it could only have been done with the aid of my parents. I must also thank them for all the driving they have put up with. I have to thank my brother for helping me as well, even though he probably didn't know it.

As this chapter of life comes to an end one recognizes the advantages that St. Andrew's College offers. It provides more than an excellent education and various extra curricular activities but a community where the people are of a special quality. It is here that friendships are made to last forever. This is what makes SAC so remarkable. The teachers aren't only faculty but are friends. Especially Mr. Josselyn who helped me keep on track (for the most part) through the hardest of times. I appreciate all the guidance that Mr. Dunford, Mr. Galajda, and Mr. Kimmerer have given me through the years. It's been this guidance that allowed me to accomplish my goals in hockey. All the great times on the road with the team will be remembered the most. Especially winning OFSAA in Dryden. I wish the best of luck to you next season. Thanks to my friends who helped me get through the ups and downs of life at SAC. It's with sincere thanks to my Mom and Dad who provided me with the knowledge and wisdom (as well as the dollars) to put me through St.Andrew's College. And Dad, I told you I'd make you proud, I did it. Well, now that I've sobered up from that scholastic dream I must be off. À famous bald person once said we never truly appreciate what we have until we've lost it. St. Andrew's College - its traditions, opportunities, staff and really scenic driveway - has been my life for five years. I've laughed, cried and grown up in these purple and orange halls. The friendships I've made and good times I've had cannot be done justice in this space. The St. Andrew's experience is something that needs to be lived to be understood. No other school could give this sense of pride I feel as an Andrean. I haven't a clue what my future holds. Nevertheless, whether I'm rich or poor, thin or really thin, practicing law or grooming poodles, I will always be an Andrean. It is because of SAC1 know who I am. Thank you St. Andrew's.

How can one possibly attempt to measure every memorable experience endured during a lifetime of ups and downs in the space provided? When most ask the ever so fashionable question: "Why on earth do you go to that school?" My witty, humorous and intelligent response is simple, "It's my life!" High school to most teenagers is a nine to three ordeal, often forgotten upon graduating. Yet high school to me is the birthplace of my most memorable experiences. It is here where I have never laughed longer and cried harder. It is here where I have met teachers that have guided me in every positive way. It is here where I won gold and finished last. However most significantly, it is here where I have friends that I will keep forever. I thank Mr Galajda, Mr Dunford and Mr Kimmerer for the season that will never be forgotten, your guidance on and off the ice was immeasurable. Mr Robinson, you are still a god. My two-fisted swailin cronies; Hoov and Bri, my house 7:30. Yet most importantly I thank my mother. All the effort you put into my education has finally paid

Thank you Cyril for your help and friendship. I wish you well in your future endeavours and good luck at Swathmore next year. Thanks Kev, Tim, Alex, Ty, Jokes '92, Mike Lamb, and others. I owe alot to the teachers of Saint Andrew's as well; especially; Mr. Hiltz for teaching me professionalism and how important it is in all areas of work, Mr. Smith for his patience with me, Mr. Swan for his adequate advice as my tutor, and Mr. Paolini, and Mr. Myrans for their excellent teaching, I have learned a great deal in both of your courses. Above all, I owe my parents the most. They have stuck by my side even through grim times and have encouraged me to do well not only for them but for myself. I hope to succeed at university next year, and I feel that SAC has prepared me very well to face the new challenges ahead. Thanks, and goodbye.

time has passed and I've grown, I have opened my eyes. I'm not going go on and say how perfect SAC is and that I am going to really miss it, because I'm not. St. Andrew's has allowed me to meet some great people and do some extraordinary experiences, but this chapter of my life is over. I am proud to be an Andrean. Now it is time to move on. I would like to thank my best friends Darren and John who listened and allowed me to be myself. Ilove you guys like brothers. Activities: I Track and Field (ISAA Champs) and Weight Training. Iwould like to start off by thanking my Mom and Dad for their patients, strength, and for sticking behind me all the way. To Mr. Bedard for giving me that vital second chance. Thanks to the teachers and all my new friends who made my short stay a good one. 21 Gun Salute to all the West Indians: Rodgers, Sands, Sealy, Banks, Thwaites, Loo-Loo, and Kingston. A "WUZ - UP!" goes out to my football rival and friend Steve Heron good luck, and kick butt wherever you go, and don't give up on the football!

Something to those who have their goals set. Focus hard on that goal, and don't let anything clutter your vision. Put your priorities in the right places and always complete what you plan to do. It doesn't matter if the odds are against you never turn your back on your goal. Also, learn from your history, learning from a past mistake or accomplishment helps shape your future. Always remember to let your actions speak for you.

Lastly, respect everyone form your teammate to your opponent. Treat them the way you want them to treat you, and never underestimate the situation or the persons involved. Always remember that. Thanks again Mom and Dad and especially to my brother Dywane, for pushing me to my limits. Thanks again St Andrew?

First of all, thank God for my existence. Second, thanks to myparents for sending me to SAC. Third, let me extend my sincerethanks to all the staff (Mr. Walden, who without I would not havebeen able to write, Mr. Smith's humour, Mr. Hiltz's professionalism. Myransky presidential thinking, Mr. Wenk's POW, Mr. Inglis' 7-dimensional talk, Mr. Bedard's guide for pointing the right path, Mr. Kimmerer's dictatorship and lastly Mr. Giel's professional accounting skills although I dropped the course early) and my friends that have had tremendous impact on me. Their dedication, hospitality and friendship have been countless. Without their constant support and consistent encouragement, Iknow, I wouldn't have survived this year. I hereby wish them the best!

Some of my hostile friends undeniably proved to be the best model to reflect my weakness and faults. I learnt a lot more from my mistakes than successes.

My school year away from my home has been productive andmeaningful, thanks SAC!

My five years at St. Andrew's have certainly been eventful and very memorable, from cadet inspections and carol services to goat herding and getting arrested on campus during a wedding procession (see Activities List). I came here as a skinny, naive, and studious grade eight and I leave having matured, gained experience, and yes, I've learned how to spell fun (for you Dr.M.). It has been in my last months at SAC that I have truly realized the benefits of belonging to the Andrean family. I have my generous and wise parents to thank for their commitment and foresight to help me fulfil my potential to date. Leaving St. Andrew's will bring new goals and experiences to be sought at university. But I will never forget my days here, from football with Coach to chemistry with Mr. Smith. Five yards five push-ups..., "showing up", chapel loops, the Goatherders, full facial shields, and explicit differentiation will always be with me.

Andrew O'Neil

Flavelle House

Andrew came to the College in Grade 9. After Mac House he moved on to Flavelle House. He has played football, most recently as a running back for 2nd football, and track and field. This year Andrew was the CSM for Flavelle Company. His main enthusiasms are bugging Mr. Foy and being late for OAC Chemistry classes. Andrew is off to the University of Western Ontario next year.

There are many who deserve thanks for making the past five years what it was. Thanks to the masters who taught how to learn, the Computer Science Department for supporting my special interest, to my parents because some things are better than they seem, to my friends (especially TC), and to my house-master who was simply the best.

Next year I will be moving onward, yet a piece of me will always be here at SAC. Graduation is not the end, but merely the beginning. It is at SAC where the foundations on which my life will sit Down the home stretch I go Next year University-o, Arts, English, Psychology To build the walls for my foundation, The foundation I built here at S.A.C. -D.R.-

This is it, finally the end of the road and I would be lying if I said it wasn't fun. I could remember when I thought this day would never come, but as the days narrow down I find myself wishing to start all over again. I always thought myself to be the type who never got attached - to anything, but as time creeps closer to when I have to say good-bye, I don't think I can. The people and even the school itself, which I used to complain so much about, it's now a part of me, imbedded in my soul. And for allowing me this special experience I would like to thank my parents and supportive family (I now know what the sacrifice was all about). I also want to send shout outs to: My Canadian buddieghs (especially) WL, DC, AO, CY, MB, JS, HS, and to my West Indian bredrains (especially KM, RC, DS, CE.

Six years I've spent here. Most of the complaints I've had over those years seem trivial now. I've learned a lot that will help me in the future, and I'm grateful for it. I don't think I'll really miss this place too much, but when I look back on it, I won't regret having come here.

What I will miss however, are the great people I met here over the years. I thank everyone from the staff, especially Mr. Swan, Mr. Stuart, Mr. Treasure and Mr. West (a great turo!) for their help or guidance as housemasters. Writing this comment was the last thing I picture myself doing when I found myself stuck in a room with an Italian Mafia, a Spanish pimp and a Heavy Metal rock star seven years ago in Mac House. Now, I'm the only one who's made it from that room as all of them had moved on to some place else. The point is; it's been tough these past few years, but the results were rewarding. Many thanks goes to the masters, especially Mr. Clements, Mr. Giel, Mr. Hiltz, Mr. Jones, Mr. Kinney, Mr. Ray, Mr. Treasure and Mr. West, for their multi-dimensional talents and inspiration. I want to thank Mr. Foy especially for giving me the chance and for all his advice and friendship during my stay at SAC.

Finally, some advice to all the up and coming Andreans: it's so easy to get involved with just about any aspects of the school; but it's just as easy to get caught up with laziness and miss the opportunities and quit. Grab your chances, it's a privilege.

It has been said that I am the studen who is not supposed to write a grad comment, but I figure after a hundred and twenty grand spent, I should write a little something.

The past five years have been the longest period of my life. I can't say that I fully enjoyed it during that time although upon reflection, I believe that those will possibly be the best live years of my life. I thank my parents many times over as it will be several years until I fully comprehend the sacrifices made on their

Five years of boarding at SAC have given me innumerable tools for the future. It is at SAC that I have grown up, learned, competed, shared and consoled - and garnered numerous PhD's from the intrepid Hockin. Who can forget the great times - the parties, the late nights, the early mornings, the trips and tours, Mr. Wenk's Calculus class? These great experiences have not only prepared me for university but they have enriched my life. I thank everyone who has helped make these five years so terrific - the teachers, the people! stayed with, my family in Toronto and my friends, whom I hope to keep forever. Oh! Is it true? There are no more than hundred days left for my high school career. OAK, During the past three years of my life in SAC, I have experienced sweet and sour. They are the most meaningful and memorable times in my life. Today I left my blood and tears behind in this land, and carrying discipline to walk out through this gate.

Thanks to all my buddies who are still in SAC or somewhere in Canada and USA, they already know who they are. Special thanks to Mr. Hemmings for being an excellent fencing coach. Also I would like to thank Mr. Foy for taking care of me like a baby (reminding me to go to chapel everyday), Mr. Jones for being the best and funniest chemistry teacher also the first teacher who calls me a Part-Time Student, Mr. Treasure for helping me in the English although I regularly skipped his class, Mr. Hiltz for telling me the goal of the universe (Professionalism) again and again. All of this has been made possible by the two most important people in my whole life, Mom and Dad. You are the best. Thank you Wesley, Kristy and Carmen who have encouraged and supported me through my hardest times; Uncle James and his family forsaking care of me during all the weekends. Lastly, thanks to WFG and all fencers in MFC for bringing me to fence everywhere in this world. I will always be proud to be an Andrean in my life. Farewell SAC.

Time to come time to go. Time has passed so quick as I realize that I only have two and half month left at St. Andrew's. The last two years in SAC have given me a memorable experience. I have been taught self-confidence, discipline, respect for one another, sportsmanship, and also survival. This helped me to another, sportsmanship, and also survival. This helped me to build my character academically, physically and spiritually.

Thanks to Mr. Foy for being a great housemaster, Mr. Smith for giving me support thought the years, Mr. Jones for being the coolest teacher, Mr. Scoular for helping me to become a good essay writer even though I always handed-in my essay late. Mr. Perrier for being the best math teacher especially for parabola, Mr. Wenk for giving "problem of the week" that improve my skill in copying, Mr. Halstead for being the nicest teacher although I skip houseleague regularly, Mr. Hiltz who always reminds me about Einstein new theory: "Professionalism is more important than knowledge."

Also, thanks to all of my friends especially Jaja for being my roommate and part time student, Shikster and Alan for helping me academically. Finally, a very special thanks for my parents, you have given me a great opportunity to come to SAC and for your full support, patience and sacrifices. Five years in SAC fly by like a rocket. I could still recall the first day of school in SAC, lost, lonesome and the first time without my parents accompaniment. I have never anticipated making so many friends after a few days of school. Besides the academic programme, I particularly enjoyed the extra-curricular activities. Boarding in Memorial was also quite an experience, but most importantly, it would be the friendships here that I would miss most.

Also my deepest gratitude to all my teachers and coaches. Especially Mr. Hanson for taking care of me during my initial years at SAC, Mr. Kinney for his fun classes, and Mr. Walden for his coaching in football.

Last "thanks" goes to my family, who have given me the opportunity to come to St. Andrew's. I thank them for driving me up and down the 404. I also want to than them for encouraging me and teaching me things which could not be learned at any educational institution.

asked if I wanted to return to public school, I also knew that I did not want to go. And now when high-school is over, I finally want to go. Although I've enjoyed SAC tremendously over the past six years and though SAC has been very good to me, I do think it's time to pass on. I thank SAC for offering superb academics, various extracurricular activities and all the other plentiful opportunities stemming from Andrean life. Thanks also to Mr. Scoular, Mr. Smith and Mr. Myrans. But above all I must thank my parents who, through thick and thin, have done their best to stick with me. You guys have always wanted the best for me and I think you've succeeded. As my old director once said, "Thanks to all key grips, best boys and gaffers."

Four years seems to be a long time but it passed by rather quickly. During these four years at SAC, I learned how to get along with other people, be more independent, and to become more mature. I would like to thank all the people who supported me during these years; thanks to my friends: FL, RT, IL, MC, JY, PH, EL, WS, TC, SF, JT, ELs, WL, JW, GL, AL, TC, AL, RC, and to all of you who have been supporting me in the past, (Note: Order does not matter). My housemaster, Mr. Foy, who was always keeping me in shape for attending chapel and classes; Mr. Day for being my tutor and Mr. Somerville for being as my University Counsellor. Finally, I would like to thank my family - my parents, who gave me a chance to become a boarder at SAC, and for always encouraging me not to give up whenever challenges come - they have given me their greatest support on everything I need especially my transportational tool. There's an awful lot to thank about, but I don't have the space to write it all out, so here's a sincere "THANK YOU." Well, I guess that's it. If I happened to miss anyone, please contact me somewhere in the future.

This year's Under 16 football team had a very tough act to follow. Last year's team ended the season on a streak of 6 straight shut-out victories. Not to be out-done, the 1992 version of this team simply continued the winning tradition and in the process became the first under 16 team in 26 vears to go undefeated through an entire season. As the scores indicate, this team dominated the league. The few points that were allowed, were usually in the latter portion of the games against primarily our under 15 players. Not that these younger players were inferior, in fact, against Appleby, we fielded an offense composed of only under 15 players and still managed to defeat our older opposition by 16 points!

Offensively, the scoring punch was delivered by the strong running trio of Brent Spence, Carl Lippe and MVP Ryan Somerville. Quarterback, Fred Perowne added a strong passing dimension to the team and completed passes all year to his favorite receivers Matt Thorne and Andrew Wilson. The inspired play of "rookie" linemen Brad Livingstone, Dan O'Shea and Mark Newton impressed all.

On the defensive side, four shutouts in seven league games tells much of the story. The Saints defense was, in a very large way, responsible for much of our success this year, constantly turning over the ball to the

Such was our strength defensively, that we were able to play a variety of players at every position, however several players distinguished themselves on the field. Kevin Hurley provided much of the strength up the middle at nose-tackle while Tim Jackson and Steve Mantrop backed up the middle at line backer and safety respectively. William Diep worked hard all year to earn a starting position and was named team MIP.

The coaches would like to thank all 36 players for their tireless dedication throughout the season. Whether starting or backing up, all players gave their best effort all year and deserve all the credit for a fantastic season

We had strong positive leadership from our offensive captains Andy O'Neil and Tim Horton, and on defense by Mike Parent and Geoff Pennal. On offense, the top point people were Andy O'Neil with 30 points, Ryan Lawlor and M.I.P. D'Arcy Sweet with 14. The Q.B. and M.V.P., Tim Horton, led the offense to 91 points in four games and spread the ball-carrying duties over several capable players. For several years our second football teams have worked hard but could not produce the wins on the field. This year, with the return of several veterans who had the determination to win, a change in attitude prevailed. We had our first championship season in seven years.

This year's Under 15 soccer team proved to be one of the best in many years. They went undefeated in regular season play losing only one exhibition game during the pre-season. That was their first game of the season v.s. Banting High School. They beat them the next time 4-2 starting their undefeated streak. With special talent such as Ying Kiu Mao, Chris Donnelly (Dona), and Alex Kim the team was destined to win I.S.A.A.

This didn't happen as they were ousted by a much weaker side from U.C.C. as well as other teams taking their revenge for losses during the season. We ended up coming out of the tournament with a win against C.D.S. whom the U15's had repeatedly blown out of the water during the season. The game went to OT to show how badly we were playing.

Most members of the team will be back next year at the U16 level with coach Clements and maybe with home field advantage they'll win I.S.A.A.

U14 Soccer

This record shows the strength of this team - the future of SAC soccer lies at their feet! We won two of the three tournaments we entered.

We had the fastest defense in the league with Alex Wood and Greg Ho overtaking and out muscling every enemy.

In the centre the captain Chris Fusco was a dangerous deadfall kicker.

In the attack, Keith Dadson on right wing could outwit every defender. And in the middle a couple of pocket hurricanes, Mark Landry and Dan Ginou, took on opponents twice their size and scored many goals.

Congratulations to MIP Will Mercer who played with great courage... and to MVP Mark Landry who scored 15 goals (5 in one half) and challenged every opponent and referee.

Losing our two best players to the 1st team and also being short of numbers caused concern at the start of the season. However, we were fortunate to discover experienced players among the new students: Jan Lutzen, Daniel and 'Rico' from Mexico, and Ahmed and Khaleefa from the United Arab Emirates, With these added to the squad we could field a strong attack but the defence would have to learn new skills by playing.

In our first few games we lacked good team-work: skilful attackers often held on to the ball too long, learner-defenders lacked confidence and know-how, but at least our goalkeepers were developing well. Captaining the side was no easy job, but centre-half Ben Thwaites encouraged, cajoled or inspired players to give of their best.

Outstanding players in the team were Jan Lutzen, a versatile and untiring wing or half-back: Daniel Macchise, a talented centre-forward who scored 22 goals; Glen McClelland and Neil Chung, the key members of the defence; and goalkeeper Chauncey Burch, whose growth as a goalkeeper suggests that he has years of play ahead in our College teams.

The team's finest performance was in the I.S.A.A. Tournament. In the play-off for the quarter-finals we had to play Lakefield, who had beaten us 6-2 in our opening game of the season. At the end of play there was no score, and no goals were scored in two periods of overtime. In the decidingpenalty shoot-out we lost 3-2! Both sides played excellent soccer in this highly exciting game.

During the season we played 11 inter-school games; we won 5, lost 4, and tied 2, with 41 goals for and 28 against.

Jan Lutzen was the team's choice as M.V.P. and Chauncev Burch well deserved to occupy the M.V.P. slot.

All of our players knew moments of despair, frustration, excitement and exhilaration; so did I. We all learned something from them about team-play and about our part in it. That's what made this such a memorable season.

Our Second's soccer squad had a season with many up's and down's. Our whole season was very fun and they were a very coach able squad. Our team was composed of a respectable mid-field lead by Austin Page, a very fast and skilled forward line consisting mainly Robert Luxemburger. Aubrev Shapson and John Shienke and all of them backed up by a very solid defensive line of Jason Worry and Dwan Rogers (MVP). In our season we had a number of ties which should have been wins for us. Along with 2 wins and 1 loss. We went into the playoffs as the number 2 ranked team because we had

Most would agree, that in order accomplish a successful soccer season, an unblemished record and a championship trophy are two vital components. However, the 1992 First Soccer squad indeed, had a solid win - loss record yet had an excellent time defending it.

Personalities such as EDDIE, ROBO, McLeod, MacGroo, Buddeigh, Scruff, Radar, Fordateam, Rabbs, Shabba, Swiss and Sotres all contributed to a memorable season.

The season began with the Earlybird Tournament at S.A.C. Much to the disappointment of our coaching duo, the team did not live up to our capabilities and did not qualify for the finals. We rebounded with an excellent comeback season much to the surprise of all onlookers. Who could forget the incredible Crescent comeback, down three goals at the half (one was an own goal by McLeod), and rebounded to score four unanswered goals in the second half for the victory.

The season's climax was the trip to Halifax to visit King Edgehill for an independent school tournament featuring sixteen teams. Virtually unscathed, with four straight victories we reached the final against our arch rivals U.C.C. In a "blood bath" soccer match, our luck ran out and lost 1 - O on a weak shot that rolled by Radar into the net.

We continued to roll after Halifax, and achieved a playoff berth against T.C.S. Again, our luck was not with us and one goal in the dying seconds of the game ended our season. Our M.V.P was Jason "Radar" Reid, and our M.I.P's were Sean Etherington and Sean "Scruff" Connelly. Many thanks to our intrepid coaching staff Ro and Ed. Good luck to all the returning players.

Despite narrowly losing the High School Championship to Mayfield School, St. Andrew's has had a keenly contested, and promising fencing season which has seen the rise of several new fencing hopefuls to uphold the future of the sport. We were especially blessed this season to have the guidance and input of both Mr. Hemmings and Mr. Myrans, both of whom contributed greatly or our teams and their success. Thank you for a great season.

tour-Our first year, and nament for the indeed for all of the new recruits, held was Mayfield School. We were represented well with the presence of Allen Chi, and Andrew Sundiaia in our first team from last year, and also Warren Lam, Raymond Chow, Joseph Chan, Stanley Shui, Randy Yeung, Danny Leung, Irwin Mong, James Lo and Derek Au making up the other three teams who represented the school well for a first time under tournament conditions. In the end the teams emerged with second place overall after being edged out by the hosting team in a well fought finale.

Following this, the members of the team then departed for St. Mary's High School with one silver medal already in hand. This saw Allen Chi presented with the Second Allstar

M.V.P., and our team with one more silver medal to show for their efforts. not to mention the ever increasing experience which the new fencers were gaining.

The stage was then set for the Ontario Provincial Foil Championship where Andrew Sundjaja and

Allen Chi placed 26th and _ 13th out of 45 competitors respectively. The team results headed by Warren Lam and 8th placing headed by Raymond Chow.

Consistent results in both the Ottawa Shield and the Ontario Championship secured Raymond Chow, Andrew Sundjaja and Allen Chi for qualification in the Ontario Winter Games.

In retrospect, this season has been one the most challenging and prosperous for all of the fencers and coaches involved. Special thanks to Master Wu, whose expertise helped in the development of the new students, and the continued success of the second year fencers. His contributions are very much appreciated. With the experience and skill which the new generation of fencers have obtained throughout this season, and the introduction of an Epee class next year, the future of fencing at St. Andrew's is brighter than ever.

Whether it was a windmill spike from Julian Hall, a super-set from Kam Chan, an amazing block from Louie DiGianni, a power spike from Mike Ralph, or an ace from Erik Blackstock, this year's U16 Volleyball team proved that they were better than good.

Our team consisted of new players from the U14 team and a few veterans from last year. This team had enthusiastic and eager competitors that were ready to take on other schools. We started off the season with an impressive 5-0 sweep against Appleby. The rest of the season went pretty smooth, winning some and losing some, but we had more wins than loses. Whenever we lost, we had the determination to do better next time, we never gave up. The most exciting game of the season was against RSGC. We were down 0-2 when our coach had to leave, our captain and MVP Kam Chan took over the job. He livened up the team by setting up Hall and Ralph for their rocket spikes which blew the other team over. With the help of DiGianni's blocks and thrilling digs by Blackstock and MacPherson, we swept the next three games defeating RSGC 15-0, 15-4, 15-3.

We had solid bench support throughout the season. Aarts and Farrugia allowed our starters to take rests during a few games. Future setter, Pugliese, played well when it was necessary. A newcomer from the Bahamas earned the MIP award. Rob Sands didn't know much about volleyball at the beginning but with more practice and playing time, he was eventually a good player.

Highlights? There were plenty, the powerful spikes of Hall and Ralph pumped up the team during many games and made the other teams look won a collection of points. The vertical leap of DiGianni blocked out numerous spikes from our opponents. Continuous serves over the net from MacPherson enabled our team to gather a bundle of points.

In the ISAA tournament, we surprised everyone after defeating our rivals from Port Hope, Trinity. All of us were pumped up which won us the game. We lost disappointedly to RSGC the next game but destroyed Crescent. Pugliese served 10 straight aces during our 3-0 sweep over Crescent. We did not advance but we knew we played our best.

The team had an interesting and exciting season. We got on each other's nerves at times but we continued to play as a team which led to many victories. The team members would like to thank their coach, Mr. Dominato, for taking time to practice with them (and giving them push-ups!) and for an excellent season.

A for and against record of 0 and 9 says little about the effort or character which the team demonstrated throughout the season. The game of volleyball was introduced to eight new players whose skills improved over the course of the season. Losing games every week was a true test, yet at each practice the team honed their skills so that by the end of the season the transformation was profound. Rather then having individuals scrambling all over the court, you saw a team working together, encouraging each other, playing as a unit. While all can be congratulated, special recognition goes to Reginald Ng the team's MIP and Daisuke Suzuki MVP.

This year's team was a team of character. We were not the most skilled team, however our intensity, dedication and drive propelled us down the path towards our goal, a playoff berth. We did make the playoffs, facing the eventual ISAA champs Trinity Bears in the first round. This year's team accomplished one of the goals seldom achieved by any team. We played with great sportsmanship and had a super time.

We had a young team this season with only one veteran from last year's team. The good thing about being so young this year means that next year's team will be more experienced and have a better chance at the title next year. The team would like to thank Mr. Gaertner and Mr. Barns (Little Dab) for all their time and effort. Good Look to next year's team.

This past year in Cross Country Running was a team which showed great numbers in the younger team which hopefully predicts a strong senior team in years to come.

Due to injury or sickness this year's team did not accomplish the results of past teams but it was a fun and exciting season as many new members came out and got a taste of what this unique sport is all about. Congratulations to Chris Kirkpatrick and Dave Michael on earning MIP and MVP awards respectively. And Congratulations to the rest of the team who came to all of the practices, worked hard and raced well. Way to go guys and we'll see you next September.

Homecoming

Homecoming '92 brought smiles to the faces of all Andreans as our teams annihilated their opponents in football, soccer, and volleyball. A fabulous barbeque lunch provided students and returning old boys the energy to keep cheering on our victorious teams well into a glorious afternoon. A successful day at sports was followed by an equally enjoyable night as students danced up a cloud of smoke from the dance floor well into the night-time hours. A warm welcome was extended to all homecoming Andrean; in particular, the class of 1918 was represented by an old by Mr. J. Douglas and a good turn out from the class of 1933 for their 50 year re-union made for a very memorable and enjoyable occasion.

Expansion Week

the horizons of the students was more than adequately met and we look forward to another 'Expansion Week' in November 1993.

Expansion Week

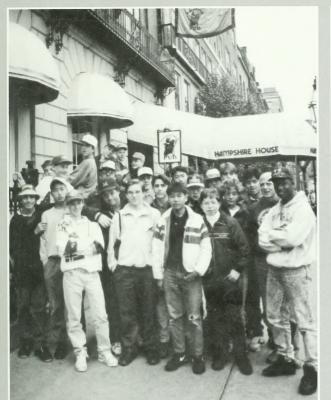

In the years since its introduction by Dr. Hockin, a week devoted to alternative education has become a fixture at St. Andrew's.

Expansion Week 1992 took place in November and featured trips to: the Bahamas (for SCUBA), Boston, Costa Rica, Cuba, England, Mexico, New Hampshire, New York (with the Debating Society), Quebec, and Russia. Projects were offered on Art, Careers, Choir, Community Service and the Scott Mission, The Environment, Law, Norval, Space Science, and many more.

Expansion Week

St. Andrew's Night

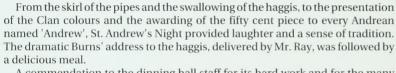

A commendation to the dinning hall staff for its hard work and for the many cans of pepsi that were provided to the thirsty students in order to wash down the haggis! The guest speaker, Mr. John Currie, an Old Boy, spoke with eloquence and lent occasion to what was a memorable night.

Talent Night

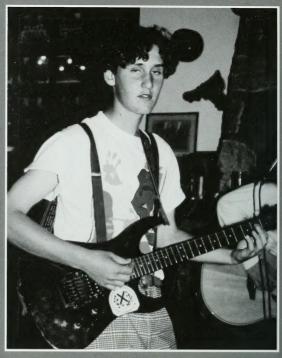

This year at S.A.C. the traditional house plays had a change for the better. The talent night held after St. Andrew's Night entertained a large number of SAC students. Numerous talents practised by our students really shone through in many performances. For example, who could ever forget Joyo as "The Human Pinata"?

This year's Under 13 Basketball team was probably one of the most successful units the College has seen at this level. Buoyed by the return of team captain Tom Newton, the boys were competitive in almost every game in which we competed. The team finished with a league record of 8 wins and 3 losses while our overall. record stood at 14 wins and 9 losses.

We had a tremendous series with the team from Royal St. George's College which typified what sport should all be about. The games were hard fought with respect and friendship between the teams being the reward. Another highlight was a gritty victory over the eventual ISAA Tournament Champion from Hillfield-Strathallan College in overtime. Clutch free throws made by Jordan Wilson and Salim Moises helped to force overtime and clinch the victory respectively.

However, the best memory for all on the team will be our involvement in the Dragon Classic in Vancouver, B.C. during early February. The sightseeing around Vancouver and opportunity to live with families from the West Coast. Along with this we were exposed to a high calibre of basketball which made us a much better team as a result.

During our ISAA Tournament on March 6 at Crescent School, we went in with high expectations but lost a closely fought battle 30 - 34 to the host school in our first game.After that we were able to coast through and win the Consolation Round of the Tournament, The MIP of our team. was Matthew Wettlaufer while the co-MVP's were Salim Moises and Tom Newton. Special mention should be made of the tremendous progress shown by our other returning member, Andrew Camargo, Chris Haslam also deserves much praise for his determined defensive efforts and the spirit he exhibited during many of our close games. The team would be remiss in not thanking Mr. Kinney for the time he spent working with us on our level of fitness.

I would life to personally thank all of the boys forgiving so much of their time and efforts to making us a truely successful team. I hope to see many of these boys representing the College on the court next year. M.H.

This year's under 14 basketball team was one of the best teams I have seen in a long time. We won as many games as we lost. But not only that, this team showed a lot of determination and never gave up.

In our tournament, we lost in the semi-finals of the consolation round. A loss to Appleby prevented us from becoming the consolation champions.

The team's MVP Greg Ho was also our captain. Honourable mention to Ricky Leung, Gerald Li, Kevin Sui and Dan Ginou.

The team's MIP was clearly Andrew Hodges, who improved his quality of play every game.

Thanks to all the team mates for putting forth a fine effort. B.S.

Heading into the 1992-93 basketball season, the U16 basketball squad was looked upon with high expectations. They opened up the season 7-0, including convincing victories leading to an ISAA Early Bird Tournament championship (at Crescent). With two towering big men inside, and a solid backcourt, St. Andrew's appeared to be a formidable opponent for their new league, York Region Secondary School Athletic Association, where they would meet older and stronger teams.

The team seemed to be confident and sure of themselves, however midseason injuries to top players Neil Ritchie, Paul Etherington and co-captain Kevin Hurley damaged the team's morale and all around depth. This setback forced other players like Jed Dadson, Matt McCartney, Ed Penafiel and Julian Battiston to elevate their level of play. It was evident that the team had a lot of heart in a big victory over King City and a well played loss to Vaughan - two highly regarded York Region teams. This created optimism towards the upcoming play-offs in both the York Region and ISAA leagues. The injured players returned, however success in the pay-offs was not meant to be for the Saints as they received a tough draw against Father McGivney of Markham (York Region), and a heartbreaking semi-final defeat in the ISAA year end tournament.

To the people returning for another vear with Mr. Perrier and to those moving up to the U16 level, they have in store for them a coach who is not only a teacher of the game but a classy individual who provided both leadership and friendship to the members of the team. For those moving on I'm sure, if asked, they would speak highly of the overall development that has taken place individually. Our whole season is credited to him, and all his hard work that went into making this team a success.

U15 Basketball

A first look at our season 1-12 record might lead the reader to believe we had a poor season. But that is far from the truth. After winning our first game, we lost 5 games by one basket and about nine games by a margin of less than 10 points and we just barely lost to Crescent (a good team) in the ISAA tournament.

What's more important than the amount of wins by the team is that the U15 squad was exciting to watch and fun to play on. With exceptional players like Chris Kirkpatrick and Chris Donnely, our awesome guards, and Kusal Fernando and Ivor Ip, the formidable pair of forwards, along with the other exceptional members of the team made this season a most memorable one.

Not to be forgotten is our coach, Mr. West, who taught us the basics and beyond by showing us some cool moves of his own. With his guiding, the squad provided many 'showtime' moments.

After this year's experience, I believe that the whole team is much better prepared for future competitive basketball.

The second basketball team was very young and inexperienced. Of the nine teams in our league, five of them are first teams from smaller schools. We were not ready to play against 12th and 13th graders.

The players worked hard and by the end of the year were giving all the teams a good game.

Mark Wilson was elected captain by his team mates. Terence Cheng was chosen most valuable player and Daisuke Suzuki was picked as most improved player.

The year got off to a slow start for the first basketball team, but as our young talent melded under the influence of our senior leaders and Coach Josselyn we steadily improved.

Losing four of our five starters from last years undefeated ISAA champions cost us a lot of experience and height, but the nucleus of young talent this year's team provided gives us hope for the forthcoming year.

In the York tip-off, our first tournament of the year we were dealt two quick losses, but as the year progressed and we learned how much work we had to do, our attitudes and skills improved, until the point where we finished second in York Region, and won the consolation final in the ISAA touraameat.

One of the main reasons for our improved success on the court near the end of the season was the fact that everyone on this team had a role. Third year guard Mike Lamb provided speed, quickness and leadership in a supplementary role. In the half year he was with us, point guard Bart Sommerville showed great leadership overshadowed only by his ability to draw technical fouls for his great referee bashing wit. John Delfin, recovering from a serious knee injury suffered during football season provided more back court help and a great sense of humour (Saints vs. Da Bulls) with P.T. sidekick Jose Sores picking up any left over minutes. Austin Page, the silent, high flying rookie guard astonished us all with his jumping ability, while Rich Rabnett moved from the bench to the starting line-up in time to show us a couple of NBA range three pointers and some flashy ball handling. The back court was rousted out by our outstanding, do everything MVP Derek Bulas and our only returning starter, captain Tim Stinson.

With the exception of our MIP Martin Blum, the front line was little shorter than desired However, with the red hot outside shooting of Ian Cragg, the devestating post up, top of the key, left handed spin move of second year P.T. man Tim Horton and the efforts of small forward/center Drew Downard, we managed to keep up with most taller teams. Thanks to Coach Josselyn for his motivational speeches sad his chaperoning expertise in Clearwater Florida this Christmas and to fitness supervisor/task master Mr. Kinney.

Special thanks should also be given to the Junior Saints who joined us in Florida. Future all-stars Tim Jackson, Kevin Hurley and the shuffle-demon Louie Digianni.

To Mike and Bart, thanks and good luck, and to evebody else, see you next year.

Under 16 hockey team had great year. We started out with a bang, playing great hockey before Christmas. But then 1993 rolled along we went into huge slump, but managed to get out of it just before the end of season tournament. We played inspired throughout the last few games but then lost to Nichols in the semi-finals. ST. ANDREWS COLLEGE SAINTS 1993 ONTARIO CHAMPS!

This year's cross country ski team, experienced a surprising growth in numbers. An increase from nine skiers in last year's season, to twenty five members this year. Although the majority of the team's newcomers were also beginners in the sport, the team had a surprisingly good season. Through dedicated leadership and guidance from team veterans, the team improved drastically over a short span of time, to meet the imminent challenge for the races ahead. The midget team took the ISAA championship by storm, while the senior team missed first place by a hair. Three of the team's top skiers, David Michael, Andrew Michael and Jan Lützen, were medallists at the DYSSAA championship and gained a berth into OFSSAA. They all placed outstandingly in their respective categories at this most competitive race. Many thanks to the coach, Mr. Gaertner, and the team captains, David and Andrew Michael, for a great season.

The rifle team savoured quite a successful season this year by placing 3rd in the Ontario Provincial Semi-finals, and coming 4th in the finals. The team had a few new shooters, and so such an outstanding performance is a victory by itself. Both Rvan Penty and Daniel Gauvin made commendable progress as newcomers to the sport. Simon Hall tied for 3rd, and so qualified for the Ontario team. which competed in Ottawa during the nationals. Simon placed in the top 20% individually, and the team placed first in Canada.

The SAC shooting trophy was awarded jointly to Simon and Julian Hall for having shot perfect scores this year. Simon placed 3rd in Canada out of 535 competitors coming only 3 points behind the

This season we produced a lively crew of squash players; some renegades from other sports but all keen to benefit from the coaching of Mr. Murphy. This was the first time that St. Andrew's has made use of a professional coach. In the season the second team improved significantly. At the Final Tournament at the MayfairRackets Club the Second Team performed with distinction.

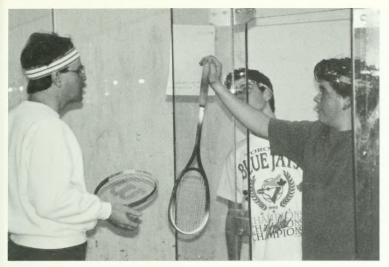

The Bermudian trio of Bart Somerville, Somers Kempe and Geoff Hindess won a large number of matches. Special mention must go to Martin Landry who, in the U16 team, was undefeated in all his matches.

At the first team level our young players were outplayed by other schools in the Final Event staged at the marvelous facility at SAC, Mr. Robinson had planned a miraculous speech at the award ceremony but unfortunately the speaker was not present. He has tried to make amends by writing this article.

We can only hope that the enthusiasm of the masses and the instruction of Messrs Robinson, Jones and Murphy will lead to future success.

Both coaches have been involved in other sports so the following comment is not made without some insight. Swimmers work harder than any other athletes at the College. Before anyone goes into shock let us elaborate. Unlike team sports where the team ethic will sometimes carry one through a bad day, swimmers and track types have no one to help them carry their burden. It is just them against the clock. Add to this the inhospitable environment which swimmers train in and the edge has to go to the swimmers. Our swimmers were routinely covering 3000 metres or more daily in their training. If you think this isn't much we invite you to come to the pool and test your fitness level against that of the swim-

This year's team at both levels were recovering from the loss of many competitors who had graduated. This meant that students who might have had to swim at the second team level for a couple of years found themselves swimming at the first team level. The second team had members who normally would have been competing at the U14 level. This was not a championship year but not for lack of trying. The work ethic exhibited by all members of the programme was exemplary and the coaches were proud to be associated with them.

The Indoor track team trained hard through the winter season. Excellent times and efforts were recorded by Neil Bruce, Kris Murray and Tito Sealy. Jason Baun continued to reach new heights in the pole vault while helping teach new vaulters. The team is to be commended for their superb efforts.

The 1993 track and field team proved to be a stronger, faster and larger team than in the previous years. The team was armed with many seasoned veterans as well as by many fresh rookies, 70 team members in all. The first outdoor meet, the Snowball Relays, got the season underway.

The team picked up valuable experience enroute with the york region Indoor Championships and the I.S.A.A. Indoor Invitational meets. This paved the way to the I.S.A.A. Championships that were held on Saturday, May 15, at Centennial Stadium in Etobicoke. Once the team set

This year's rugby season started off predictably enough. Early April practices were cancelled or shortened due to an assortment of melting or falling snow, wind or rain and late April practices were interrupted by training for cadets. When the weather finally cooperated and we were able to begin training seriously, the turn out was overwhelming. While some schools in the ISAA are having trouble fielding a team, we had over 40 try-outs. Our cause was greatly aided by the fact that four players, Mathews, Klupfel, Christie and Hamilton, had made the team that toured Scotland in March. The large numbers of interested players inspired us to attempt fielding two teams, an A and B side. This proved to be an exercise in futility and after much debate, the team

Two early season victories against UCC and Crescent made it clear that the league would boil down to three dominant teams, SAC, Appleby and TCS. Unfortunately, our matches against these two opponents were both away games and while we put up an excellent effort in both, both ended in close defeats for St. Andrew's, Our season record was 5 wins and 3 losses. our ISAA record was 3 wins (all shut-outs) and two losses.

On the field, play in the backs was dominated by a strong running duo of captain, Mark Hamilton and MVP Paul Etherington. Sean Christie, our leading scorer, provided some excellent speed at wing. In the forwards, our clear advantage was one of height. The jumping skills of Julian Battiston, Kevin Hurley, Stefano Klupfel and rookie. John Scheinke, insured success in line-outs all year. In the pack, captain Ian Mathews consistently hooked the ball in scrums and the strong play of our MIP, Alfreo Villegas > was an inspiration to all who incorrectly believe that you have to be a brute to play in the front row.

The coaches would like to thank all those who tried out and all those who made the team. This group of players was a unique blend of skill, determination and good humor that made blending it into a team a rare pleasure.

Another ISAA triumph, and so well earned!

The squad, many fresh from a great tour of Scotland, worked as hard at their fitness as their skills, and both improved noticeably as the season wore on. The captain (and coach) stressed from the beginning the need for control of the game, and this was certainly the foundation for our victories. Wins were not easy, but all were very decisive in the end.

The players put aside personal gain and glory, instead realizing the importance of establishing an underWe certainly had our individual stars - Sean McGrath and Steve Heron, Ontario players - Brian Spence, MVP, veteran of school and club rugby (and tours), and a coach's dream. We also had experience: Chris Thompson, Craig McFarlane, Jason LaMarche, Matt Fraser and Bart Sommerville the latter two playing key roles in our final sweet victory at TCS. We had other players of promise: James Nichols, Jose Sotres and the famous "subs". I could go on, for all made wonderful contributions: the results tanding and respect for each other.

speak to a team effort the whole way.

Special thanks must go to two captains, Chris Thompson, '93 and John MacMillan '90. Both made my job that much easier, and especially rewarding.

Well done. Now on to 1994.

Senior Golf

Our team of Darren McNair. Marc Belliveau, Tom Hockin and Doug Chambers showed dramatic improvement and spirit by moving from 20 strokes to 3 strokes behind a strong Ridley team. At our tournament at St. Andrew's Valley we finished 3rd and three weeks later at ISAA, 2nd, only three stokes off first place. An excellent effort from a fine team. Darren McNair was MVP. He is a super golfer who is presently competing at a provincial level.

Junior Golf

We had an enthusiastic and energetic team made up of Mike Graaf, John Haney, David Reale and Mike Edwards. These boys love the game and their strong efforts showed as they moved from a twelfth place finish to a 6th place finish at Hockley Valley where they competed in a Scramble against other senior ISAA teams. We're sure to see some excellent results from them in the future.

The U14A team this season were undefeated in all 6 of their regular games. This, I believe, is not a true telling of there incrediable talent this bunch of individuals has for the game of cricket. All members of the team are potential 1st team members and have the ability to go on to Club cricket. Captained by Simon Williams this young team showed an international standard of fielding-especially Mark Landry who pulled off some incrediable catches.

Out top scorer was Simon Williams with 84 not out and our best bowlers were Tom Newton, Hugh Siddely and Carey Chow who took a large number of wickets for a small amount of runs. The arduous taks of wicket-keeper was given to Alex Churchhill who carried out the job brilliantly. Our MVP quite obviously went to Simon Williams for his batting performances and our MIP was awarded to Tom Newton who has a natural bowling action and will be productive cricketer for St. Andrew's College in the years to come.

The Under 14B Team was composed of individuals who were enjoying their first experience of the game. Matthew Wettlaufer their wicketkeeper and captain exemplified the enthusiasm and dedication of the group. Adam Newton and Jamie MacPherson are two tremendous strikers of the ball. The Mexican contingent of Alberto Alanis and Alphonso Celorio were a keen battery of bowlers. Much credit for the improvement of the squad must go to Jeff Hindess who took much of his own time to act as a supplementary coach. The Under 14B team is the foundation of the cricket at St. Andrew's College and this has been an encouraging season of individual and team growth.

This was a fine team of cricketers who improved considerably as the season went on. Clearly there is considerable raw talent in the hitting skills of Jameel Bandali, Mark Wilson and Julian Hall. The most important thing was that this group went out and enjoyed the sport. Eric Morgan, the punk rock cricketer, terrified the opponents with his tremendous bowling. Fingers Stock stroked the ball with style and grace. Make the time to develop technical skills and there is a future in the game for each one of you.

One... Two... Three!

The 1st Cricket Team underwent a complete rebuilding process this season. With only two veterans returning it was necessary to restock the team with Grade Ten students and persons with no prior cricketing experience. Multiple indoor practices, net practises and fitness runs produced a competitive team within a few short weeks. The turning point came in Game 3 when we scored over a hundred runs against the champion side Upper Canada. This was followed by two substantial victories against Ridley.

M.V.P. Mike Kingston, was our main attack bowler restricting the opposition to a miserly number of runs. His knock of 50 not out against U.C.C was the team's highest score and was well deserved. Geoff Hindess, who had played only a limited amount of cricket prior to this season was our Mention must also go to Josh Ginou who had some very good bowlingperformances. When we look over the whole season, I can safely say no one had more fun than 1st Cricket. Ably Captained by Jeff Cerilles the team was full of youth. Next year the St. Andrew's 1st team will be a side to watch out for.

Another season of badminton has passed and I'm eager to tell you about the highlights. The moment that I will most remember is Marc Belliveau's victory over the UCC player who had so cockily defeated Marc earlier in the season. Belliveau is clearly the sort of athlete who prepares and can cope with the excitement of a big game. Watching Marc come from behind and whittle away at his opponent's confidence in this match drew my attention from virutally every other game that was being played at the time.

Of course, a team is made up of seven players and the whole gang contributed to making badminton a sport worthy of notice.

Congratulations!

I would like to say so long and thanks to Marc Belliveau, Eric Lau, and Techee Cheung who have contributed to the team for several years now. I also extend my warm thanks to my colleagues Mr. Kimmerer and M. Grenier.

GD

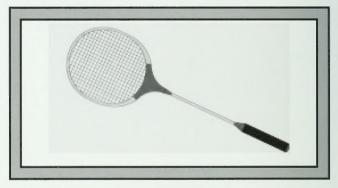

This year's U14 Badminton team attended the ISAA end of the year tournament for the first time. It was not easy to field 7 competitors so Mr. Grenier had to borrow a few players from the houseleague program in order to be competitive.

Despite a lack of training for those additional players, SAC managed to be 4th overall out of a seven team tournament. It was a good experience for all and certainly an eye opener for our best players who then realized what it takes to be a champion at the ISAA level.

Mr. Grenier would like to thank all participants and is looking forward to next season already. His principal task will be to foster more team spirit which was almost non-existent this year. Indeed, at this young age, maturity is also needed and Mr. Grenier will be looking for students who can demonstrate this quality in addition to their skills in this sport. Next year's motto will be: "Make friends and have fun while learning".

MVP - CHRIS DANCEL

First of all, my thanks to all the players on the team! They were very reliable and dedicated, and made my task (of coaching) that much more enjoyable. We coped with the typical bad weather for this time of year (cold and wet!) by playing on indoor courts quite a bit. That was nice!

U16: The team struggled all year at this level, and it soon became apparent we would not be very competitive! Some of the players were very much beginners, and it seemed to take forever to develop some of the basic skills so necessary for the game. (Service, in particular, was a common and serious weakness!). Results aside, no one seemed to mind; everyone was very keen to play and did the best they could! The best tennis we played was probably against Ridley, and it was also the site of the most spectacular shot I've seen for a long time! In sunny but windy conditions, Enrique Schleske was playing a tough match at #1; both he and his hard-hitting opponent seemed content to hit from the baseline; during one of the lengthy rallies, Enrique hit a shot with so much under-spin, it went over the net and bounced back onto his court! His opponent, who was waiting for the ball to come to him, could only shake his head in disbelief!

U15: The team was quite strong this year! During the season we won quite a few matches, and I expected them to do quite well. At the ISAA Tournament (the focal point of the season!) with 10 teams competing, we advanced as far as the Quarterfinals. The Singles in particular played some fine tennis! My thanks to all.

It was supposed to be a character building season for both first and second tennis, as the majority of the players were from grade 11. Talent in some, determination in others, and an overall sense of purpose brought about unexpected and welcome results, culminating in a third place finish for the firsts and a position in the finals for the seconds, at the CISAA tournaments.

From a coach's point of view, there were many highlights. First to mind was the total dedication of Warren and Steve, then the establishment of a base of learning for Eric and Trevor, the athletic talent of Kusal, the superb attitude and competence of Antonio, and the regaining of confidence by Aubrey. The future augurs well. Neil and Jeff will be counted on heavily, with Chris also in contention.

Special credit is due to the Aurora Highlands for lending us their indoor courts, to Mr. Hemmings for 'jumping into the fray' when needed, to the team members and to Gabriel, Alex and Philip.

CADETS '93

Preparation for the annual inspection commenced early in the school year as Officer/NCO candidates worked on the basics of drill. The following appointments were made before the ends of the first term:

CCO: Sean McGrath DCCO: Steve Heron RSM: Bart Sommerville Pipe Major: John Shik Drum Major: Chris Thompson

After Xmas all New Boys were placed in platoons and on a weekly basis taught the elements of drill by the Officer/NCO candidates. When school commenced at the end of March, the primary focus was the Church parade and Annual Inspection. Under the leadership of the CCO, DCCO, and RSM, preparations proceeded smoothly. The Church Parade was rained out, but the Weather Gods smiled on us and gave us lovely weather for what many people consider the best inspection ever. The Reviewing Officer this year was Lieutenant Colonel The Honourable Henry Newton Rowell Jackman, Lieutenenat Governor of Ontario, whose presence added much to the event.

Memorial Company was judged to the best company, Lt. Brown's platoon won best platoon honours, Daisuke Suzuki was selected as the best Upper School Cadet and Andrew Camargo was chosen as the best Lower School Cadet.

During the year some new programmes were implemented. Members of Grade 10 completed the Green Star course, which culminated in an overnight exercise held in driving rain. Captain Stephens and OCDT Beenson, new additions to the Corps, were the instructors for this course.

Pipes and Drums did their usual exemplary job opening the Macpherson Hockey Tournament in addition to their efforts at the Annual Inspection. Special thanks to Pipe Major Shik and Drum Major Thompson, and their instructors Mr. Treasure, Mr. Humberstone, and Mr. Cragg.

The Cadet Officers and Instructors held a Mess Dinner at the RCMI in Toronto. Captain Stephens arranged a great evening.

The QM Group did a thankless task almost effortlessly, issuing uniforms to nearly 400 cadets. Mr. and Mrs. Munns looked after this huge enterprise with good humour and incredible efficiency. Our thanks to them.

And our thanks to all the other instructors who assisted the corps throughout the year, and to our "import" Lt. Ellis who helped with the rifle drill for the flag party.

All in all a great year.

The Pen: An instrument of destruction

How can we, as a society tolerate destruction? We cannot. At every occasion we denouce and frown upon any form of wanton destruction and annihilation such as IRA bombings in England; or Hitler's genocidal attempts to extinguish the Jewish people. But yet, ever since early civilization, from the time of the Greeks and Romans until now, we have overlooked (as a culture) the most potent and destructive evil ever devised by mankind. More powerful than all the nucleur armaments put together, THE PEN has caused more destruction, grief, and torment than any known weapon. It is the pen that is responsible for our wars, battles, conflicts, etc. Then why do we continue to use it? In our so-called "civilized society, we view our use of the pen as necessary to further our development as a species of intelligent life forms: to help commit our thought and spoken words to paper. It is hard to avoid the truth, isn't it? For us, the truth is difficult to accept because we've lived with so many lies before. To say the pen is the ultimate benefactor to the human race would be a blatant fallacy. Rather the pen is a necessary evil which manifests itself as a need for mankind to further its vast knowledge.

It would be wrong to say that the pen has not been responsible for any good; only an idiot would be blind enough to neglect the written contributions of all authors worldwide who have written a vast amount of good literature, which has changed our view of life, and our consciousness. As well, scientists have used the pen to derive some of our greatest breakthroughs in the fields of physics, chemistry, and biology. But let us not forget that at the cost of bringing forth a new "consciousness" of knowledge, we have also caused destruction, hatred, and bitterness. For the cause, we need look no further than to the pen; it was the tool that started the whole train moving by putting thought into words, and bringing forth a new "consciousness"...one of evil.

We can see symptoms of this evil manifesting itself in our schools, and public work places.. For instance, in bathrooms in every school in Canada. one is likely to find some of the most slandrous distasteful remarks written-etched onto the walls, toilet stalls, and even ceilings. Whether it be " Kevin Smith's a dork!", or "Your mother's a ...", the result is the same - a meditated degradation of one's fellow man. Even worse, these types of remarks come from our youth; supposedly a generation of innocence and sensitivity; a time in one's life which should be utilised in preparing for the demands of adulthood. Already, the youth is being exposed to slander, hatred, and propoganda; they do not need that. All this is facilitated by the pen - the tool that made it all happen.

The evil of youth generated by the pen also matures into adulthood. This type of evil is now more sophisticated; it has graduated from the bathroom stalls, into the newspapers, gossip columns and magazines. It is not, crude like the comments found etched into the walls of bathrooms, but it is even more dangerous - it has camouflaged itself as tasteful language. Every day we hear rumours of bad things happening to people: "Oprah's gained weight..." or "Fergie has a Texas lover..." and the like. These rumours created by overzealous journalists or even by commonplace people wanting to earn a quick buck or get media hype as a perverted boost to their egos can cause vicious slander. The commandment of responsible reporting has been toppled by the pen's ability to allow slander, and rumour to be transmitted great distances via paper, magazine, or letter. It is dangerous game to play; the pen is the referee.

Literature has also been plagued by the potential of the pen. Modern literature has used the pen as a transmitter of its negative thoughts and feelings into a tangible art form. Books, such as Madonna's "Sex", have only served to downgrade what was once a noble art, passion, and way of life. How can we live with the fact that we are destroying yet another natural resource? We can't know it. The media has brain washed us into thinking that "freedom of speech and expression" means that whatever you think or feel like saying you can write down and sell for a price. This has lowered literature's sense of credibility and worth to the level of worthlessness.

The pen has been responsible for countless deaths due to mass killing. The philosophies by men such as Karl Marx and Joseph Stalin have led to many conflicts because of interpretation. Regimes of communism, and dicatorship according to the interpretations of these philosphies have been the cause of countless deaths- deaths of people who disagreed with the "norm" and paid their lives as a price to satisfy the wants of these philosphies. As well the pen was a vital catalyst used by Albert Einstein to facilitate his so-called "Theory of Relativity". His written calculations and theories led to the production of the firts atomic bomb, and later to the deaths of thousands at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. He may have been against the production of the bomb but his words of wisdom were lost in the vast wealth of knowledge he bestowed unto the human race; a gift of death.

The pen, thus far, has promoted a magnified hatred, and distrust of our fellow man. We don't know what he will write next about us. This causes a feeling of distrust, and discomfort in all of us. We live in a world where the pen possesses a potential to be destructive. The pen makes it possible for the vicious minded to hurt without causing bodily harm. The transmission of vicious rumour and slander perhaps makes a far greater impact than any type of death. It is tragic that we didn't recognize man's greatest enemy on the road to knowledge. If man had known the trouble that this innocent looking instrument would cause, he probably would not have invented it. However, there would have been a penalty - no pen, no advancement of knowledge. As a result the pen manifested itself as a necessary evil, necessary to promote growth of knowledge. Was it worth it? Was there an alternative? We don't know, and probably will never know. Nevertheless, the next time you pick up a "Bic" or a " Parker" think about the potential that you hold. Yes it is true that the pen is mightier than the sword: but which is safer?

The mel Camp

As the morning sun rose light flooded the camp.
The dew reflected its splendour round

as if the grass was covered with diamonds.
And then, a trumpet called.
A roar of people and a battle-ready troop.

The encampment:fortified, guarded by sentinels who roused its defenders.
The tents, as white, little huts on the plain.

And the heroes...
With another trumpet call the camp
Erupted for another Battle.

The battling and grappling Greeks fought
Like vultures over dying prey while the clanging of swords crashed and sounded like ominous waves battering a war weary island. (Andrew Weedon Gr8)

But its face?

The nightmare of every man's dreams,
The monster of hell,
Human flesh is what it needs...

No one yet has lived to tell. For as its prey they are devoured. Paralysed with fear. The hero's coming might be years.

A Midsummer Night's Dream

Shakespeare, it seems, knew it all nearly four hundred years ago when he created his protean fantasy about how love comes to ordain and rule a realm of social order. Unlike most of Shakespeare's plays, the Dream has no known primary source in his own mythic mind, the playwright fused classical, ethereal and the earthiest of characters to fashion a new world of imagination that continues to be a fresh source of delight and solace. Even though Samuel Pepys recorded in his 1662 diary that A Midsummer Night's Dream was "the most insipid ridiculous play that I ever saw in my life", Jan Kott called it "the most erotic of Shakespeare's plays". Three centuries later, the Dream lives on.

Two theatrical highlights of FOCUS were the captivating performances of Politics in the Park and Epic. Two game golden girls gave each other emotional hell in this year's mainstage production, Politics in the Park, by Scotland's brightest young playwright Iain Heggie. This comic war of oneupmanship proved too hilarious to resist.

Epic was the greatest story ever told and the worst movie ever made. It was written and directed by Ned Vukovic and starred Carl Zank, Ryan Lawlor, Mark Newton, Eric Morgan, Kevin Hurley, Tim Rabnett and all of Mac House!

FOUCS celebrated the central place all of the arts occupy at St. Andrews College. On May 5th to May 8th you will have a unique opportunity to experience a wide range of art forms - plays, films, concerts, readings, and visual exhibits - by some of the school's most talented and innovatice students.

You will also have the opportunity to experience an extaordinary series of performances and workshops by renowned visiting artists currently working in the forefront of the performing arts.

A Year's Retrospect

Act I opened with A Midsummer Night's Dream at the end of October, a rich, extravagant, mystical production of W.S. by W.S. Over sixty boys were active on all sides of the stage. With Stratford costumes, original music, and expert hands for set, choreography and lighting, this show lived up to the professional standards of Macbeth and Hamlet in recent years: a spectacle to remember. Notable among the boys were Nick McOuire and Tom Hockin as the lovers, Leo Arhanic as Oberon and Milton Barnes as Puck, and Ryan Lawlor who lived up to his part as Bottom by being transformed into an ass.

Act II, with House Plays giving way to an Entertainment Night, returned to the wild west frontier with OKLAHOMA displaying the skills of the Clements family and the talents that reside on the SAC campus. This is a show of light, colour, action and song; politically incorrect, but full of good, sometimes black, humour. Robert Leckey played Curly with stage confidence and a strong voice, Tim Horton sang "Everything's up to date in Kansas City," Leo and Milton again were magnetic as Jud and Ali Hakim, and Ryan McNally savored the part of Carnes. Everyone in the theatre enjoyed this happy show.

Act III was The Independent Schools Drama Festival returning to SAC its founding stage after eighteen years in mid-April. Co-hosted by Country Day, this festival featured professional workshops and performances for the hundred and more players from nine schools. Each school put on a one-act play, so we enjoyed acting of all types in a multi of media, comedy, sitcom, and farce. Elmwood School brought You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown from Ottawa to delight everyone. Congratulations to Mr Fraser Cowell who both wrote and directed the SAC production Superbowl Sunday which grabbed the audience with its collection of oddball characters at their annual meeting. And thanks/thanks to Jeff/Geoff who spent hundreds of tough hours on every show this year, running Sound and Lights with happy courtesy and great skills.

Superbowl Sunday reappeared for Act IV in FOCUS week where Theatre held the stage. In the Ketchum Mr Scoular directed Politics in the Park, a hilarious (for adults) comedy about two Scottish sisters. Countertypes and Unabridged played to full houses at the tuckshop. Out on the quad a gang from Mac House fought it out in Epic, with Carl Zank, Ryan Lawlor, Kevin Hurley and particularly Eric Morgan leading the action. But the highlight for the boys was low in the chapel crypt where Rob Leckey, Steve Heron and Ryan McNally wrote, directed and acted Drycleaners Don't Ask Questions. In a claustrophobic train setting, with little help from music, lighting, or movement, with few escapes into easy humour, these three kept us all enthralled.

It will be tough next year to repeat these scintillating dramatics.

October 1993 marks the retirement of our Bursar, Howard Tetlock, to whom the College owes so great a debt for his friendly and prosperous governance. His instinctive love and respect for the College, his capacity to listen, to understand and advise and his highly effective methods of getting things done have made a long lasting impact upon St. Andrew's. We are indeed fortunate to have had the services of someone with such outstanding integrity, insight and sympathy. Under Howard Tetlock's guidance as bursar, St. Andrew's College has been sagely counselled and discreetly served. (excerpt from Headmaster's Prizeday Speech)

Library '92/93

The library underwent some changes during the school year. The most obvious was the addition of computers on both levels, each area supported by a laser printer. A local CD-ROM unit was installed on one of the computers to complement the network units. This gave users easy access to a wide variety of information

The operation of the library was aided and abetted by a cadre of Student Librarians under the direction of Ramon Cameron. His efforts and those of Dan Gauvin, Dywan Rodgers, David Leung, Derek Ripley, Benjamin Thwaites, and Jayson Mulcock were most appreciated.

Health Centre

Preventive medicine has become the 'Challenge of the 90's'. The emphasis has shifted over they years to encourage students to assume more responsibility for their health. This is accomplished through emphasising good nutrition and a healthy lifestyle.

Thanks to the Ladies'Guild, the Health Centre received a 'face-lift' in 1989. New comforters, window coverings, and some 'not so proper' wall hangings make a day in the Health Cenre more appealing than a '9 o'clock class'!

Dr. Jeremy Hall has been the school physician since 1984. Carold. Rose-Kudelka R.N. (head nurse) has been at St. Andrew's for 12 years and Jill Wideman R. N. for 2 1/2 years. Helen Elely (nurses' assistant) for 5 years.

The newest addition to the Health Centre has been a physiomobile service provided by the York County Physiotherapy and Sports Injuries Clinic. Lois Derrick, a registered Physiotherapist comes two mornings each week to rehabilitate the injured.

Best of friends

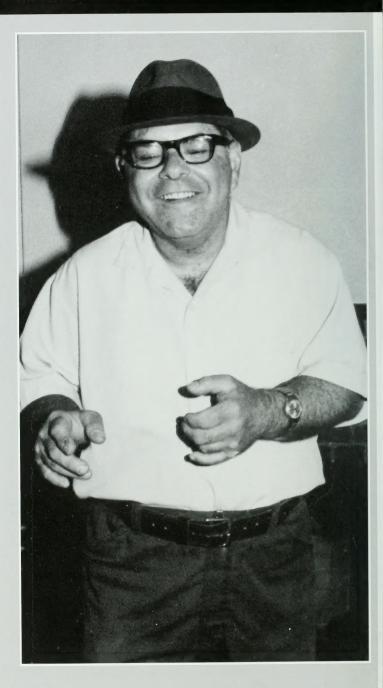

So, where we going?

Do these guys work for Laidlaw?

Manny Cominsky died suddenly on Thursday March 18, 1993, of a heart attack at York County Hospital. Manny, was well known to many hundreds of Old Boys who resided in Macdonald House during their Andrean careers. Manny joined the staff of St. Andrew's in 1963, and through the years was a friend of a great number of young men, many of whom came to appreciate his sense of humour after they had graduated. Manny was a friendly person who called St. Andrew's home. He will be greatly missed by all Andreans.

The Boss! Memories of Manny

The following excerpts are from a tribute given by Mr. Rupert Ray at a Memorial Service held at St. Andrew's College on April 2, 1993.

During each of the last 30 years for close to 100 boys Manny Cominsky was one of the most constant and memorable features of their daily life in Macdonald House. More real, I would suggest, than some of their their teachers, most of their games and all of their lessons. Two of my colleagues recalled their very first visits to the campus. In each case they got to the head of the triangle, and decided that MacHouse must be the main administration building. They drew up before the front door and to their relief a short stocky gentleman came purposefully down the steps to greet them. Both remember saying, "Are you the Headmaster?" Manny must have chuckled to himself afterwards about moments like these!

Each of us has his or her own store of associations and memories when we think of Manny. For me I think there are three qualities which I will always associate with him: his strength, his willingness, and his good cheer. Firstly Manny was a person of prodigious strength. "I do it", Manny would say and he would wrap his mighty arms around major pieces of furniture like dressers or cupboards and then singlehandedly he would head up the trhee flights of stairs.

Secondly, I don't think I've ever met anyone more willing than Manny. "O.K. Boss. No problem. I fix.", and with mighty heaves and grunts he would open a window painted shut.

Manny's life was not an easy one;

he had much adversity to contend with, yet this never prevented him from wanting to help others. Many Saturday mornings Manny visited Vic Paranfino of Vic's Shoe Repair and Skate Exchange in Aurora. Manny helped run a skate sharpening marathon with all the profits going to the Arthritis Association. It was Vic and Manny doing something for others.

Thirdly, I think of Manny's good cheer and his fondness for people. Rarely sick, he would fret about getting back to where his boys were, to where he was needed.

And so I can't quite grasp that I am not going to have Manny bustling about Mac House. For 25 years I have measured my duties by Manny's visits to the duty office to watch whatever business was being transacted, to chat about the fortunes of the Leafs or the Jays. I am going to miss that very keenly. You sing our school hymn and know the words well:

O may thy soldiers, faithful true and bold fight as the saints who nobly fought of old... The golden evening brightens in the west soon. to faithful warriors comes their rest.

I know that from now on I shall be unable to sing those lines about the saints without thinking of our friend, Manny Cominsky. "No problem...I fix."

Between the Covers A brief peek inside The Review

Putting together a yearbook is a daunting challenge and yet it can be one of the most rewarding tasks that a student can do. From its planning stages to its completion, a publication can take countless hours and involve many people at various levels of production. Most readers will admire the finished product but few will have much more than a passing admiration for, and understanding of, the toil and skill required to pull its pages together. Here then, is a brief peek between the covers - a tribute to the Review staff.

Decisions...decisions...decisions! What will go on next year's cover? How many pages will be in our book? Can we afford colour pages? Will the book be divided into three terms or by theme? Have we faithfully represented the school year as it unfolded? What could be done better? From choosing the cover and establishing the 'ladder' or overall plan for the book, countless decisions plague our editors before the job has begun so that sometimes, it seems that the editor's job is more than difficult; sometimes it appears impossible.

This year's editors, Chris Foster and Jason Worry, spent the early months of the school year constructing the book's 'ladder' so that colour pages would fall into their correct places.

Confucious said that a picture is worth a thousand words. Confucious must have been a yearbook editor, for how true this is when capturing a school year in Review. Sometimes a photo opportunity presents itself only once, and then only for a brief instant. Our intrepid photographers must be there, cameras poised, ready, to capture the moment for posterity. From the playing fields to auditorium to residence we were blessed this year to have skilful and experienced lensmen. From Homecoming to Carol Service to Cadet Parade, Gilbert Lee anchored our crew and produced some exquisite and exciting photographs. He was aided by Jeff Wong, Arnold Lee and Paul Lau. In producing SAC's book some thousands of pictures were taken. Ultimately the chosen 600 to 800 photos brilliantly reflect the kaleidoscope of the school year.

It is the editors' mandate that the Review should try to capture each individual in the school at least once in the yearbook. Each picture that is chosen must be cropped, labelled and tagged, and then placed on a layout sheet before being put into a bag with its accompanying text or copy. Picture taking, sorting and final layout requires hours of painstaking labour. Good pictures breathe the 'life' into our book.

However, pictures by themselves never tell the full story. Look closely at our book. It contains more copy than most high school yearbooks. In its pages one can find a record of trophy winners, the prize winning essay of the year, the academic achievements of our students, the directory containing the address and phone number of every boy in the school, the records and triumphs of each sports team, the results of Clan competition, and many other pieces of the unfolding tapestry of each unique and memorable Andrean year. Many thanks are due to those who faithfully have recorded our history and to those who have typed and then carefully checked and then double checked our words for accuracy before laying out the text to accompany the pictures.

In past years, our layouts were done by hand and painfully copied onto a grid or layout sheet. Now, thanks to the generous donation by the Ladies Guild, the layouts are completed using a computer and a desktopping software program. As with other sections of the book, our Grad editor, John Shik, used PageMaker software to assemble the Grad section for the current yearbook. Scores of hours were put in by John, who collected the Grad comments, arranged for photo shoots and then painstakingly brought comments and pictures together in an attractive layout.

When pictures and copy were complete John electronically fitted these into place and a disk containing our 'pages' was sent to Jostens. Now, disk by disk, the Review is re-assembled and printed and bound at Josten's plant. The review has come of electronic age. Working closely with our editors. John's care and accuracy, as well as his unflagging patience, help to ensure that our Grad section is worthy of lavish praise.

The Review's computer has eliminated some of the drudgery. This freedom, has enabled our students to experiment with creative effects and to use their imaginations to explore new approaches current in desktop publishing. The books that St. Andrew's is now putting out are technically like no other yearbooks before. Graphics, logos, ghosted images, clip art, perspective extrusions, and creative pyrotechnics give a new and exciting dimension to this year's yearbook. Let it be said however, that the mastery of the machine did not come easily. Constant hours of practice and trial and error sessions were necessary before this new expertise could find its expression in our pages.

And so the vision of the architect reaches its fulfillment only because of the labour of the bricklayers. Brick upon brick, or in the yearbook's case, word upon word is fitted onto the page and paragraph by paragraph, the review staff labours to meet its printing deadline. It is a labour that continues well after Prizeday in June. Long after students have left the campus, and often in hot and trying conditions, the Review staff toils on to bring the task to completion.

Although taxing, the experience is an enriching one for in learning to master the necessary skills, valuable experience is gained and ultimately the delivery of the completed book brings a sense of pride and satisfaction.

And so, when you are looking through The Review, reflect for a moment upon what is between the covers. Certainly the yearbook is a salute to the colour and pageantry of the year at St. Andrew's; but it is also a salute to the skilful talent of a dedicated and hardworking Review staff.

Another Memorable Year

Yes, this was a year to remember, marked by many gratifying accomplishments, and to be fair the occasional set-back. Our Debating Society was blessed with an exceptional graduating class some of whom had built up five years of tournament experience. In overview, these were some of the achievements:

- * we placed first in the spring Fulford and over the whole year we stood third out of the eighteen member schools:
- * we brought along some fine younger debaters who will be the key members of the future, four of whom were invited to visit community of the Allan-Stevenson School in New York City;
- * we co-hosted a major tournament to which we invited many schools from the suburban area of Toronto:
- * we put out the March issue of Counterpoint from SAC -- this is the newsmagazine of the Ontario Student Debating Union and it goes to over 200 schools around the province;
- * we saw several of our students achieve distinction in public speaking, one winning the right to represent Canada in England against some of the best in the English-speaking world.

The success of a year, however, cannot be measured solely by the exceptional, the glittering achievements. We maintained a fairly busy schedule of engagements at home and abroad throughout all three terms. Regularly, on Monday evenings a dedicated group of members would meet in the cozy comfort of the Tuck Shop under the watchful eyes of RR (Head of Debating) and "R&R" (for the uninitiated, that's Robert and Ryan, our excellent co-presidents) to polish our skills and to plan our upcoming exploits. Or even to watch a relevant movie like "Listen Like Thieves"

Fulford Flight

This continues to be the acme of our activities. Since the late 1940's the Fulford League has sponsored debating in the independent schools in the central part of the province. Starting with five schools membership increased rapidly in the early 80's to the point where today there are eighteen schools who compete in three major tournaments per school year. There is a junior and senior division at each tournament and the host school does not enter the tournament that it puts on.

The first Fulford this year took place in late November at Trafalgar Castle School in Whitby. The topic was BIRT CANADA'S UNIVERSAL SOCIAL PROGRAMS MUST REMAIN A SA-CRED TRUST. Our junior speakers were Andy Michael and at short notice Andrew Ipekian while our seniors were Robert Leckey and Neil Bruce, a valuable newcomer to our program. Robert was one of the outstanding speakers over the day and took part in the show debate. Branksome Hall were the top school of the day. On this as on other later occasions Leo Arhanic and Jon Hood took delight in attending as spectators and then leaping into the breach as speakers to take the place of someone from elsewhere who hadn't shown up. Of such are good speakers made.

The second Fulford was hosted during February by Royal St. George's College in Toronto, There was much wrangling over the wording of the resolution, but this is what we ended up with: BIRT WIDESPREAD PO-LITICAL CHANGE IS NECESSARY TO THE RESTORATION OF ECOLOGI-CAL BALANCE ON THIS PLANET. This time our junior standard bearers were Wallace Yuen and Simon Williams, an auspicious first time out for him. We were fortunate to have two of our most intelligent seniors, Cyril Yee and Jeffrey Cerilles, dealing with this challenging resolution and our team manager was Bernie Micalizzi! Cyril was a strong contender and we wished that we had persuaded Jeffrey to join us a couple of years earlier. Fulford winner on this occasion was Upper Canada Col-

The final Fulford of the year took place in May at Lakefield College. RR was out of the province representing Ontario at the Nationals and Rev. Bob Arril stepped in as coach. It was a resolution made to order. Mr Paul Mason, Head of Debating at Lakefield, proposed that for the first time in many years debate center on a theological resolution. He pointed out that our students for the most part have never had to prepare for a resolution that demands serious consideration of metaphysical issues. With that in mind the following argument was proposed: BIRTTHATGOD CRE-ATED THE UNIVERSE.

We had saved up an exceptionally strong team to represent SAC: Jonathan Hood, who is already becoming a seasoned veteran and Robert Burke, one of most promising intermediates. Our seniors were Ryan McNally and Leo Arhanic and they did us proud; Ryan was first of all competitors and Leo was not very far behind. St. Andrew's had the honour of placing first among all the schools who attended and were winners of the Fulford Cup, but it wasn't ours to hold for very long because possession of the battered but distinguished old trophy over the summer goes to the top school over the entire year, and this it emerged at length was UTS. Our congratulations to them for their consistently strong teams. As for us, we came in third, which was our best finish since 1989. We were well represented indeed; my thanks to all who helped the cause

Public Speaking to the Worlds

Without in any way taking away from the durable reliable satisfaction to be had from entering into a tough head-to-head debate, it must be noted that the coming sport may be individual public speaking. Some of the skills are the same; a good many are very different and equally valid and pertinent in our times. And happily there are an increasing number of opportunities to showcase these varied and entertaining events such as dramatic interpretation, radio newscast, interpretive reading and impromptu, humorous, persuasive and extemporaneous speaking.

The most prestigious tournament which features categories like these takes place quite early in the year in October. It is open to independent school students not only from across Canada and the northeastern part of the United States but also from other English speaking countries such as Bermuda, Cyprus and the United Kingdom. Last year our team of three went to Winnipeg and thrilled everyone by coming home with the C.S.D.F. Trophy awarded to the top school contingent from across Canada. The previous two years our team went to Victoria and to Boston. This year the destination was not quite so exotic--Port Hope, Ontario under the direction of Dr. Michael DuBroy of Trinity College School. It featured some of the finest competition ever witnessed at this kind of event.

Our team was two thirds intact from last year in the inveterate duo of "R & R", this time joined by Leo Arhanic despite the fact that he was preoccupied by the rigours of carrying a heavy Shakespearean role at the same time. Needless to say our men acquitted themselves very well indeed coming in fourth overall, but the chief cause for celebration was that Robert Leckey qualified to be part of Team Canada that would go on to the World Public Speaking Championship which was to take place during the March break at Reading Blue Coat School and Queen Anne's Schoolin Reading, England. This was the same honour accorded to Ryan McNally a year earlier; we have had three other students in the last dozen years achieve the same pinnacle of performance.

This isn't the place to give a detailed report on Robert's experiences abroad. Let it be said that he was a wonderful ambassador both of Canada and of St. Andrew's and that he had a never-to-be-forgotten experience. We are very proud of the achievements of both Ryan and Robert. They added class to every tournament that they took part in, and they really put S.A.C. on the map in many places where we were less than well known. In view of the above it is hardly surprising that they were the two young men who received the highest honours that we have to give in the field of speech and debate; to Ryan went the Craig Leslie Award, and to Robert the Brooks Trophy.

The Joys of Hosting

There is one other annual tournament featuring aspects of public speech which we have come to appreciate over recent years, that hosted by Dr. DuBroy at T.C.S. in the spring. In view of all that he had done in October it was little wonder that an alternate location was being sought. So it was that we in York Region came to the conclusion that we should do our part to keep this excellent event going. JoAnn Griffith, the coach at the Country Day School in King City, and I offered to do the honours trying at the same time to preserve something of the idiosyncratic charm that Michael DuBroy always brought to the event. So it was that the prizes as usual were the beautiful chrome animal sculptures created by the Hoselton Studio in Colbourne, Ontario.

We invited about forty schools to join us; we were hoping for about twenty acceptances, but withdrawals and conflicts took their toll and ultimately we had twelve guest schools taking part. This didn't in any way detract from the fun, but it did make the event more expensive from an organizational point of view. All of the competition took place on the campus of C.D.S. after which everyone came back to our home for a sumptuous banquet and the presentation of prizes in the Great Hall. We had a nice mix of schools taking part representing the public, separate and independent systems. The overall champions were the students from O'Neill Collegiate in Oshawa coached by Ms. Beryl DeKoker. Congratulations go to Cathy Bate, Krystal Davis and Adam Young. I appreciated the SAC mothers who attended as judges; I am sorry that we didn't enter a team; I wish more students and staff from here could have seen the excellent competition; I would make changes if we were thinking of hosting it again. I appreciate better why Dr. DuBroy dubbed his last major tournament "The Oh My God"! Obviously I have mixed feelings about ours, but in sum I'm glad we did it.

Hits and Misses: A Batch of Events Two unusual public speaking events that feature in our spring plans each year are the Churchill Medals and the Shakespeare on the Platform Competition, in each of which we may enter but one student. No one came forward to claim the Churchill spot and we finally relinquished our place. Our usual frontrunners were either tired or preoccupied and there weren't senior students with the courage or vision to give it a go. Something similar nearly impeded our participation in the Shakespeare evening in which the entrant must render both a soliloguy and a sonnet before a professional judge. It's a very testing experience and I'm glad that Milton Barnes consented to undergo it. I hope he'll do it again next year.

One other major rite of spring which usually falls in the same week as our Cadet Inspection is S.O.M.A. or the Southern Ontario Model Assembly, a simulation of a world body rather like the United Nations, sponsored by U.T.S. at Hart House. Mr Halstead acted as sponsor of our delegation; R and R were the key organizers and eight of our students got to conduct a debate in a way which is both serious and fun at the same time. Because of the great job our guys did last year representing the United Kingdom, once again they got to be one of the major international players, China. From all reports they had a good time and learned a lot. I'm glad that we include this activity in our program each year, but I think that the sponsorship of it should revert to the International Affairs Club where it used to be.

Let's get back to debating. The year began as it always does with the kick-off tournament held at St. Clement's. At home in a morning assembly the executive and friends from the club put on an outrageously entertaining mock debate run along the lines of a controlled scrimmage in sports. Scott Bonnell showed that like so many good Newfoundlanders he had the gift of the gab. The presentation was comical and informative. A palpable hit -- cheers to those involved!

Andy and Erik atop the Statue of Liberty. Sightseeing is just one of the perks being part of the St. Andrew's debating team.

Stephen Small: Relaxing while visiting the 'Big Apple'.

Four years ago the then Headmaster of Toronto French School initiated with us what has become an annual tradition, the Headmasters' Cup, just our two schools taking part in a home and home on the same day. We proposed the issue of THE VALUE OF STANDARDIZED TESTING IN SCHOOLS and provided them with the same research packet that we had from last year's Nationals. Our teams were Jason LaMarche and Stephen Heron at home and the familiar duo of R and R away. We won one debate and lost the other, the combined margins determining that for the first time in its existence the cup would spend a year in the display cases at T.F.S. It is easy to suggest with 20:20 hindsight that we made a tactical error in the way we deployed our forces; more serious to me is the fact that we were embarrassed by a rude and unappreciative house at home who contributed to a situation in which we deserved to lose. Not one of my proudest moments at St. Andrew's. Certainly one of our misses.

For the first time in several years no one from St. Andrew's showed much interest in doing either bilingual or all-French debating. That we weren't the only ones is little consolation; the regional tournament in French was cancelled because no one was willing to host it. The regional tournament in English was a much more successful affair. Branksome did a good job hosting; the issue for the day was WHETHER THE END OF THE COLD WAR HAS BEEN A DET-RIMENT TO MANKIND. SAC put in two of the 34 teams entered, but our representatives were all heavily involved in the school musical at the time and simply weren't at their best. It should be remembered that the quality of debate in tournaments like this is getting better and better. Consequently for the first time in several year no one from St. Andrew's qualified to attend the Provincials. The impromptu topic that day, a wonderful choice for any tournament held at the start of March, was "MY CANADA INCLUDES FLORIDA". Not all our debates are serious, longhair affairs.

RR'S Activities

Perhaps it is not inappropriate in this year-end review to make reference to the debating projects in which I was involved which reached beyond the immediately local. My main sphere of activity was as a governor of OSDU. As volunteers we try to give direction to our provincial body. This entails meetings on weekends in September, January, April and June.

I spent about half of my March break putting out a special issue of our newsmagazine Counterpoint which went to every high school throughout the province where we know that debating exists, and to our sister organizations in the other provinces. With a great deal of help from Mr. Treasure I was able to do it using the Pagemaker desktop publishing program that we now use for our Review. It ran to sixteen pages packed with coaching tips and news from around the province and hopefully set a new standard for this type of communication.

In early April along with Mr Younder, a fellow governor, I attended the Provincial Seminar in Stratford. It was one of the best ever, and we selected a regionally representative team who would speak for Ontario in the French, Bilingual and English divisions at the upcoming Nationals. These took place in May in Saint John, New Brunswick and I was glad to be asked to attend as the voting delegate for our province. An experience like this leaves an indelible impression upon one, and I was struck by the fact that over the past fifteen or so years I have done debating work and attended tournaments in every one of the ten provinces across our country. During this past year I was honoured to be nominated by OSDU to receive from the government of the province of Ontario a Voluntary Service Award for my contribution to student debating over these past 15 years. I have been asked to include a photo taken at the presentation ceremony, a chance to wear my St. Andrew's Master's blazer and tartan "trews" and to chat up the Solicitor-General who was making the award. Moments like this mean a great deal to one.

It is the hope of Mr Younder and myself that jointly we may be able to host next year's Provincial Seminar right here in Aurora, though the prescribed weekend may fall in the final days of our March break. So we could have debaters from around the province meeting in competition in the classrooms on our campus. More of this in the months to come!

Our Junior Program

In view of the number of key seniors that we have lost in the past couple of years, we deemed it it of great importance that we bring on a new generation of younger debaters to take their place. To this end we were somewhat successful, though finding the best time to run a junior program defied the ingenuity of leaders Mr Arril and Ryan Lawlor. In the end we reached a greater number of day boys by having them attend the Monday night meetings. Midway through the year we ran a tournament for juniors from our program and the one at C.D.S.

For a small select group perhaps the biggest boost came during Expansion Week when we were invited to send four grade nine or ten students to New York City as guests of the Allen-Stevenson School, a day school for boys on the Upper East Side where Mr. John Aimers was teaching this year. Mr Aimers has for a good many years been a friend of debating here, both in his time at T.F.S. and before that at Appleby. The lucky few selected for this program were Erik Blackstock, Adrian Nusaputra, Stephen Small and Andy Michael. We were billeted in homes, had a chance to sample the regimen at another independent school, did some debating and not least packed in as much touring around "the Big Apple" as we could in four days. Each of us had some memorable experiences and it is our hope that at some point in the future we may reciprocate.

Three of the young members had their heart set on getting to the Junior High Nationals which was to be held in May in Halifax and Dartmouth, Nova Scotia. When the organizers cut the scope of the event back, our application to take part was not accepted -- a genuine disappointment. Two of our juniors who had taken part in the N.Y.C. expedition bounced back by deciding that they would enter a public speaking tournament sponsored by the International Order of Odd Fellows entitled the United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth, the top three prizes for which were a ten day all-expense-paid trip to the U.N. Both Stephen and Adrian knew that they were a year younger than the announced age classification of the tournament, but decided to enter anyway in order to benefit from the experience.

The field of entrants was surprisingly small; Stephen really impressed the judges by speaking without a note though for a minute less than required; but the happy surprise of the evening was that Adrian won one of the top three places. Hurried phone calls the next day confirmed that he was prevented from accepting the prize due to his age, but the honour of placing was his nonetheless.

It seemed fitting on Prize Day that the Brian Mitchell Prize for achievement in debating at the junior level be presented jointly to Adrian Nusaputra and Stephen Small.

It isn't possible to be complete in a list like this, but here are some of the individuals not already mentioned who have shown real promise this year and from whom we shall be hearing in the years to come: David D'Alessandro, Keith Dadson, John DeCarli, William Diep, Andrew Hodges, Duane Gafoor, Andrew Ipekian, Spencer Jones, Brad Livingstone, Graeme Martin, Andrew Morton, Johan Nusaputra, Tim Rabnett, Christopher Stock, Alfredo Villegas and Brian Wills.

On to the Future: The State of the Nation

And so we look to the future after what undoubtedly has been a year to remember. The report that I have submitted here has turned out to be longer than I wanted it to be, but in some ways I liken it to a "State of the Nation" address as given by an American President to the citizens of the country. What I have written here is my attempt to assess the health of our program. I am heartened to know that on next year's executive will appear the following names put forward by this year's graduating seniors: Ryan Lawlor, Wallace Yuen, Jonathan Hood, Jason Worry and, as President, Leo Arhanic. I look forward to working with them next year.

A close reading of what has gone before reveals that we certainly had our share of hits. But equally there were the misses that I reflect on at the end of a year like this. As I said at one point earlier, there isn't the time to do everything; money and travel arrangements can be a limiting consideration, but the fact remains that we passed up on a fair number of valuable opportunities largely because there weren't individuals with the drive and initiative to make them happen.

Mr Arril and I can do a lot to facilitate a varied program, but the other crucial element still to be added is the enthusiasm and commitment of you, the students. We deeply believe that the experience of speech and debate may be one of most valuable and enjoyable of all those available to you during your stay at St. Andrew's College. The ball is in your court!

Rupert J. Ray, Head of Debating

Guest Speakers

The students and faculty of S.A.C. were blessed on many occasions to have been spoken to by such guest speakers as the General Manager of the Toronto Blue Jays. Mr Paul Beeston spoke colourfully about behind the scenes with the Blue Jays at a gala breakfast hosted by the Ladies Guild and organized by Guild president Kirsteen Etherington.

Premiere saxophonist Mr. Paul Brodie entertained and enthralled students with a concert in the chapel and afterwards signed CD's and spoke to students informally in the Conference room.

Old Boys, Mr. John Currie and Mr. ScottArmstrong were the guest speakers at St. Andrew's Night and Clan awards assembly respectively.

These speakers have presented listeners with real life experiences, entertainment and humour that have greatly changed each person's life if only in the slightest way. We hope to have many more guest speakers that enlighten our days and give us yet another reason to enjoy the experiences of being a St. Andrew's College student.

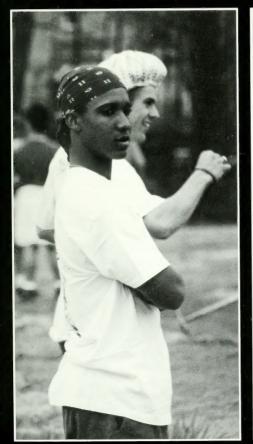

Once again as Coordinator of the Clans I was really pleased by the large number of students who applied for their clan colours. This is a sign of how healthy is the competitive spirit in the houses, and a reflection of our desire to recognize those students who truly make a difference to life in our school.

Public presentation of these awards takes place on two occasions during the year, the first of these being St. Andrew's Day at the end of November. On this occasion our guest of honour was John M. Currie who was a student here from 1965 to 1970 -- Lremember him well because he was in one of the first classes I ever taught at S.A.C.! In his remarks at the banquet John gave us a fresh slant on the significance of our college motto, "Quit Ye Like Men, Be Strong", when he advised: "Face your failures first; facing your successes is always easier.'

The other occasion when we pay tribute to clan award winners comes near the end of the school year at a special assembly. The guest of honour here was R. Scott Armstrong whose Andrean years extended from 1982 to 1987. Scott talked of the value of community, both as we understand it in an intimate school community like ours and as we shall experience it in the world beyond our gates. He suggested that we counter the urge to make up communities of people just like us, rather that we try to enrich our sense of community by broader in-

Every boy during his life at St. Andrew's belongs to a clan; the clans are named after the colourful family tribes of ancient Scotland. Our clans compete head to head in the crosscountry run, the intramural track and field meet and in the one-act play festival which this year turned out to be a talent night. There are three areas in which points can be gained toward the winning of the Housser Trophy: academics, extracurricular activities exclusive of sports, and Andrean representative sports teams. Point totals are computed on a per capita basis so that the size of the clan has no bearing on the outcome.

A couple of observations about the final standings which were announced on Prize Day. First of all we had not only a repeat but in fact a "three-peat" win by Ramsey House. If you want to know the reason why, reflect on the high level of involvement in this house and the titanic contributions made by a handful of key house members, particularly on the academic front. It should not be forgotten, however, that Ramsey also triumphed in the cross-country.

Equally significant, however, may be the quiet and determined way in which Leslie Clan or New House is closing the gap between first and second. Once again they surpassed all others in establishing themselves as the most highly represented of all clans on our school's athletic teams.

Does this tell you who prevailed on the day of the track and field meet? Hardly! Thanks to tremendous organization and commitment from their members Sifton and Flavelle blew everyone else out of the water and turned the day into a neck and neck two-way race in which MacPherson eventually came out on top. A couple of other generalizations which may not be highly significant but which are certainly interesting: the houses making the greatest contribution to our drama productions were Memorial (Buchanan) and New, but there was very little involvement from Sifton. The house making the greatest contribution to our speech and debate program was Ramsey, but there was very little involvement here from Memorial. The house which received the greatest number of mentions on Prize Day was Ramsey.

First in competition then for the Housser Trophy then was: Ramsey with 5189 points. The trophy was presented by Mr. John Housser of the Board of Governors to Chris Thompson on behalf of his clan mates. Second came Leslie with 4701, and a little further back as top boarder clan was Stewart or Sifton with 4364. They were successful in displacing Flavelle in the win, place and show standings. They should not be overlooked in the early betting for next year's race.

The MacPherson Shield is presented to the most spirited clan member in the school, and this year it went to Scott Bonnell, a member of Stewart Clan and incoming Head of Sifton House. This year an exceptionally high number of boys earned their Bar to First Class Colours--six in all: John Shik, Ryan McNally, Jason Baun, Bart Sommerville, Jason LaMarche and Robert Leckey. The Robertson Laidlaw Trophy, presented annually to the boy who in the last two years of his career earns the greatest number of points for his clan, this year went to Robert Leckey.

My thanks to all who took part at any level and contributed by their loyalty and good sportsmanship.

R.J. Ray

LOWER SCHOOL CLAN DEVELOPMENTS

Thanks to to Mr. Hanson and Mr. Whitehead who do a great deal to foster clan spirit and friendly competition between the clans in the lower school. Mr. Hanson with the help of the clan captains and house captains has made the clan system a vital part of the residence experience. Many evenings after study were enlivened by indoor soccer, basketball and floor hockey games which pitted the clans against one another in friendly competition. And who can forget the annual Trans-Shads tug-of-war contests staged by Mr. Whitehead?

This year's winner of the Rupert J. Ray Trophy for the top clan in Macdonald House was, for the first time in a good many years, Montrose Clan, captained by Inaki Istilart and Rvan Lymburner. Congratulations to them for stopping a string of Bruce victories. The Hockin Trophy is competed for by the five clans in the Lower School. This year Robertson Clan of Laidlaw House won the trophy with 1691 points; they were followed by Douglas Clan, last year's victors, with 1611 points, and then by Montrose clan with 1584. It was especially meaningful that we had former Headmaster Dr. T.A. Hockin with us on

Prize Day to present the trophy to the captain of the winning clan, Mark Newton

Laidlaw House

Another outstanding year has drawn to a close in Laidlaw House. We were well represented when the scholar's were called forward on Prize Day, and we had a large share of outstanding athletes on the school's representative teams. The comraderie each morning in the common room started off each day on a positive note.

Some of our memorable activities include our triumph over Mac House in water polo, followed by our stunning loss at the 'tug of war'. Our trip to see David Copperfield at Hamilton Place, and our many barbeques - particularly the last one with steak, caesar salad & corn-on-the-cob, were enjoyed by all.

Special thanks are due to Fred Perowne and Simon Williams - our co-heads of house; to Brian Wills who won the most prestigious trophy for a day student (The T.E. Harrison trophy); to our thirteen house captains who helped in the day-to-day operations; and to all the members of the House who have made my job such a rewarding one!

Headmaster's Prize Day Address

Mr. Chairman, Dr. Hockin, Distinguished Guests, Parents, Friends and Gentlemen of St. Andrew's College.

The end of the academic year is a time for retrospection, for taking stock of the last ten months. For what will the year 1992-93 be remembered in the annals of St. Andrew's? Certainly, the College has had a busy and exciting year and everyone will surely think of something different as his or her outstanding memory.

The College's academic record for this year is impressive. There are no fewer than 23 Ontario Scholars from a graduating class of 68, and our students received a wide range of individual awards. I will mention a few: our debaters, Ryan McNally and Leo Arhanic, captured first place out of 19 schools in the latest Fulford Cup competition. Robert Leckey was one of 8 students chosen from across Canada to represent the country at a World Public Speaking competition in Reading, England; he also won the United Empire Lovalist Research Essay award.

2001 schools are invited annually to nominate one student to compete for the Queen's Chancelor Scholarships. This year, 510 schools did so. Robert Leckey, our nominee, is one of the nine Canadian students selected from the 510 applicants to win the Chancelor's scholarship and $24000. We congratulate Robert for this and for his many other outstanding contributions to St. Andrew's as scholar, debater, actor and prefect.

On the subject of prefects, may I take this opportunity to commend this year's group for their sustained leadership and support during the entire school year.

Continuing with academic honours, the school placed 11th of 356 high schools in Canada in the National Mathematics League. Finally, Daniel Thwaites, from the class of '89 was awarded a Rhodes scholarship this year. Daniel is the fourth St. Andrew's student to be so honored in the past 22 years.

The school's athletes will no doubt savour the unparalleled success that we enjoyed on the sporting scene. This represents one of the most successful years in the school's history. In the independent league, championships are only obtainable at the first team level, but almost all of our 52 representative teams in 18 different sports were noted for their competitiveness, desire and sportsmanship. This past term, the rugby squad defeated all Independent School rivals by substantial margins - thus winning the Conference of Independent Schools Athletic Association championship. The track and field team won its 4th consecutive title by totally dominating the opposition. This St. Andrew's team accumulated 698 points in comparison to the 192 points earned by the 2nd place finisher.

In a wider arena, our First Hockey Team won the All-Ontario Championship (which includes all high schools in the province) and this for an unprecedented 3rd time in 11 vears. This year's team brought untold honours and acclaim to the school through talent, fair play, exemplary behaviour, and excellent coaching. No doubt, this O.F.S.A.A. championship will be indelibly etched in the memories of the players and of the large number of parents and fans who so positively and loyally supported their progress, culminating in 4 glorious days in the town of Dryden in north-western Ontario.

For some, especially the growing number of actors, musicians, writers and artists in the school, there was the magical and winsome production of A Midsummer Night's Dream in the fall, the show-stopping Oklahoma! in the winter term, and in the spring, Focus, our annual festival of the arts, which, this year, saw the production of eight plays, three films, nine readings, numerous musical performances and countless exhibitions by our artists.

Thanks to Bob Perrier (housemaster of Memorial House and Head of the Math department) and his wife, Ann, a successful initiative was launched. A diverse and popular weekend excursion programme captured the interest of many of our international students. They went to Ottawa, Niagara Falls, on ski trips, to athletic events, the theatre, Canada's Wonderland, the Zoo, the Science Centre, the Royal Ontario Museum and the African Lion Safari.

Such an ambitious and memorable school year would not be possible without the special people who give tremendous behind-the-scene support. At St. Andrew's, we are very fortunate to have both a unique and dedicated Board of Governors. The members of this Board, and its Chairman, Mr. Peter Harris, work tirelessly and devotedly toward the good of this institution both for the present and for the future, while never interfering with the day to day functioning of the school. We are indeed blessed. I would also like to take this opportunity to remark on the commitment of time and energy of the teaching staff, the successful accomplishments of the constituencies represented by Mr. Herder and Mr. Tetlock, and the hard work and caring of the Ladies Guild. To all of these, and naturally, to you the parents, my heartfelt thanks and deepest appreciation.

The College is a continuing society, its spiritual and academic adrenalin passing from one generation to another. We constantly experience, as individuals and as a school, the parting of the ways - the graduation of students and the retirement of College staff.

October of this year marks the retirement of our Bursar, Howard Tetlock, to whom the College owes so great a debt for his friendly and prosperous governance. No Bursar of recent times has made such an enviable impact upon any school, not simply in terms of his contribution to its material well-being, but in the personal qualities which radiate from him. But what really underpins his success as Bursar is something he cannot pass on - his instinctive love and respect for the college and its ways, his capacity to listen, to understand and advise, but never to coerce, and above all, his unfussy but highly effective methods of getting things done. We are indeed fortunate to have had the services of someone with such outstanding integrity, insight and sympathy. Under Howard Tetlock's guidance as bursar, St. Andrew's College has been sagely counselled and discreetly served.

On a personal note, Howard is a true, loyal friend, a stimulating companion, and a great golf partner. Howard's wife, Joyce, has lent a great deal of support to many in the school. Her good taste, her understanding and compassion have been invaluable to Howard and to many of us. We will all miss Joyce and Howard, but I know that the friendships they have nurtured here will be long-lasting.

A shadow was cast over the School in the latter part of the year by the sudden death of Manny Cominsky. After nearly three decades of notable service to the school as the resident custodian of Macdonald House, Manny's death broke a link with the past. His engaging personality made him one of the most popular members of our community, and he will be much missed. A very beautiful memorial service was held in our chapel on April 2, when those who knew and loved Manny celebrated his life in a most touching manner.

And now, to you, the the graduates of the class of 1993.

To quote from Willa Cather's novel, Death Comes for the Archbishop, "To fulfill the dreams of one's youth - this is the best that can happen to a man." All of us are born, live, suffer and die; what distinguishes us one from another is our dreams - our ambitions - and what we do to make them come about. And it is that word - ambition - about which I would like to talk to you briefly this afternoon.

Ambition is the linchpin of society, the fuel of achievement - the passion that best releases the energies that make civilisation possible. Ambition implies work and discipline to achieve goals. It drives the best to their greatest exertions, the middling to do well, and even the dull to rouse themselves.

But what does ambition entail? In his book On Happiness, the French philosopher Alain remarks that "Everyone has what he wants." What Alain felt was that - apart from the odd accident or the arbitrary infliction of disease - each of us determines his or her destiny. "Many people", he goes on to say, "complain about not having this or that; but the reason is that they did not truly want it." Assuming we stand ready to pay the price, we all get what we want.

But it takes rigor, and it takes courage to achieve what we want. To take the gifts and talents we have been given, to concentrate our strength upon their development, to disallow distractions, and thus to win through - none of these is an easy task.

What makes the task difficult is that most people do not truly know what they want from life. When a person asks himself what he wants out of life, he is asking a question that cuts to his soul. To answer it with candour requires self-knowledge of the highest kind. Napoleon may have known what he wanted out of life; Ghandi most certainly did; but at the lower reaches where most people live, knowledge about what one wants, truly wants, becomes more complicated.

Alexander Solzhenitsyn wrote, "the most important decisions in our lives, when all is said, we make for ourselves". You do not choose to be born. You do not choose your parents. You do not choose your historical era, or the country of your birth, or the immediate circumstances of your upbringing. You do not choose to die; nor do you choose the time or conditions of your death. But within all this realm of choicelessness you do choose how you will live: courageously or in cowardice, honourably or dishonourably, with purpose or adrift. You will decide what is important and what is trivial in life. You'll decide that what makes you significant is either what you do or what you refuse to do. But no matter how indifferent the universe may be to your choices and decisions, these choices and decisions are yours to make. You decide. You choose. And as you decide and choose, so are your lives formed. In the end, forming your own destiny is what ambition is all about.

You who are about to graduate will, I hope, find that your years here have given you at least some of this ambitious capability and that the ambition will increase as you add new understanding and new wisdom to what you have acquired here.

Valedictory Address

Mr. Chairman, members of the Board of Governors, Mr. Bedard, members of the faculty, guests and fellow Andreans.

On November 26, 1985, I had my first "SAC experience". My mother and I came to the annual entrance exam and interviews. I remember walking into the library and seeing the sixty some odd boys and their parents waiting for the days events to begin, I also remember being the most scared I had ever been in my life. I wrote my entrance exam, had my tour, and was interviewed. That sounds simple enough. But here at St. Andrew's, nothing is simple. During the exam Mr. Smith made one boy cry; then during the tour Coach almost killed a student for not wearing his squash goggles, and in the interview Mr. Bedard sat and smiled at me for half an hour.

Today, almost eight years later, I am standing before you giving the valedictory address for graduating class of 1993.

For all the graduates, today marks the final day of our high school careers. We will no longer be St. Andrew's students, in a few moments we will be St. Andrew's Old Boys. Each one of us has plans for next year, and beyond; be they university, work or travel. But, no matter what our plans, we will always be part of the Andrean fraternity.

When we came here, we all had hopes, fears and goals. Now at the end, we have set new goals for ourselves, because we have finally achieved our old ones. We can reflect upon this year with pride, as one of change, challenge and success. Our football team made it to the Championships for the first time in five years. Our Hockey team was the best in the province. Our track team dominated the league for the fourth year in a row, and our Rugby team had an undefeated season, winning the Championship for the second time in the school's history. In the arts, A Mid-Summer Night's Dream, Oklahoma and Focus were some of the best performances the school has ever seen. This has been a year of setting examples, and I hope that those who follow can learn from them.

There is a saying usually recited when a new food is put in front of us, "Don't knock it till you try it". Well, to all the undergraduates, listen to it, but take it in a different context. Think of it as trying new activities, and getting involved in the school. There are so many things to do, besides school work. There are the many sports, acting, debating and even travelling that you can try. If you're not involved, in at least someway, you don't know what you are missing.

Over the last seven years there have been many stories and people that will always bring the word "SAC" to mind. From Mohamed, magical Tony Chow and Woodeigh, to lassies, room 90201 and walking through green hallways. There are things in years past like the immortal "Bone", the annual play with "Willie", and buging Mr. Kimmerer, that only a few of us can always appreciate. But, we all have our own stories to tell. That is what makes our school what it is.

It falls to me, as the spokesman for the class of 1993, to try to express our thanks to the people that got us to this important day in our lives.

To our families, thank you for being families. We thank you for always doing what was right for us, even when when we didn't agree with you. You always gave us the best you could. It's our turn now to try and do the same for for ourselves.

To the faculty and staff, thank you going beyond the call of duty. We may never appreciate how much you truly gave us. You gave us the best, from your efforts in academics, atheletics, arts and guidance, to your efforts that make our campus the most beautiful in the world. Thank you all for being St. Andrew's.

To my fellow prefects, thank you for the experience and the help. We wanted to make changes, and we tried many new things to improve school life. From a slight change in Homecoming to a completely new Mayfest. We gave of our best and, we prevailed.

And finally to all of you, It has been my pleasure, and honour to be your Head Prefect this year. I thank you all for giving me the chance. As I now end my duties, I would like to share something with you that you can take with you through life. It is similar to something you have all heard before, perhaps reminiscent of our school motto. A very important man taught it to me, and I want to teach it to you. It is a poem, by an unknown writer. It's called Don't Quit.

When the road your trudging seems all uphill, When the funds are low and the debts are high, And you want to smile but you have to sigh, When care is pressing you down a bit -Rest if you must but don't you quit.

Life is queer with its twists and turns, As every one of us sometimes learns, And many a failure turned about When he might have won had he stuck it out. Don't give up though the pace seems slow -You may succeed with another blow.

Often the struggler has given up When he might have captured the victor's; And he learned to late when the night slipped down,

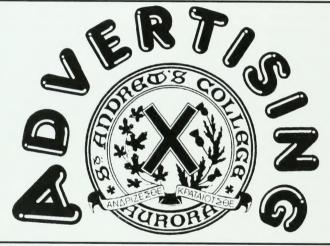

How close he was to the golden crown.
Success is failure turned inside out The silver tint of the clouds of doubt And you never can tell how close you are,
it may be near when it seems afar,
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit, It's when things seem worst that you musn't quit.

Congratulations St. Andrew's College

What greater joy than to arise with the dawn of each new day when the whole world beckons us to meet its challenges to share in its never-ending mysteries. What greater joy than to seize every gift life brings and to make the most of what we have and who we are as we prepare the way to a bright and beautiful tomorrow.
